Bellefonte Republican.

Established in 1869.} "Let us see to it that a Government, of the People, for the People, and by the People, shall not perish from the Earth."---A. LINCOLN. {Terms: $2.00 per annum

VOL. XIV. BELLEFONTE, PA., WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 6, 1882. NO. 35.

Bellefonte Republican.

By EDWARD T. TUTEN.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—No communications published unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Correspondents should write upon but one side of the paper, and avoid the use of pale or fancy inks.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

GOVERNOR,
JAMES A. BEAVER, of Centre county.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR,
W. T. DAVIES, of Bradford county.

JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT,
WILLIAM HENRY RAWLE, of Phila.

SECRETARY OF INTERNAL AFFAIRS,
JOHN M. GREER, of Butler county.

CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE,
MARRIOTT BROSIUS, of Lancaster.

Republican County Convention.

The Republican voters of Centre county will, in the usual manner, elect three delegates from each election district on

SATURDAY, 23D DAY OF SEPTEMBER, which delegates will meet in County Convention, at the Court House, in Bellefonte, on

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1882,

at 1 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of nominating two candidates for the Legislature, one Jury Commissioner, Congressional and Senatorial conferees, and for the purpose of transacting such other business as may be brought before the Convention. By order of the County Committee,

WILBUR F. REEDER, D. H. HASTINGS, Chairman
J. IRVIN HAGERMAN, Secretaries. 14 35 3t

EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

WATERMELONS are rotting in the fields in the Delaware peninsula.

SENATOR MITCHELL'S health does not improve. It is now announced that he purposes taking an extended western tour, which will last until election day or after.

EVERY young man who voted on age in 1881, or if of age and did not vote, should be registered and a tax assessed against him. Unless this is done sixty days before the election, and the tax paid thirty days before the election, he cannot vote. This is very important.

THE fact that Pattison was born in Maryland, and although he was unable to bear arms on the confederate side on account of youthfulness, but sympathized with those engaged in rebellion, has caused hundreds of Democrats to feel that he is not the man to run for governor. That he will be badly beaten is almost certain.

COLONEL PIOLLET, the head of the grangers, said that when Andrew H. Dill was a candidate for governor he neglected to attend a granger's picnic and he was defeated. "Now," continued Col. Piollet, "Pattison has failed to show his face among us, and I warn him of the ominous character of his absence." Col. Piollet is a Democrat.

OCCASIONALLY a man is heard from who wishes to know what a Bourbon is, as the term is used in southern politics. The Hon. Alex H. Stephens, of Georgia, gives the exact definition. "It is," he says, "an idiot who seriously believes that confederate money will, if the Democratic party gets into power, become as good as gold, and the time is not far off when he will be allowed to "wallop a nigger," as in the glorious ante bellum days."

IT IS probable that many of the proud but debt-burdened nations of the old world will note with amazement that during the summer month of August, when our entire community seemed given up to rest and recreation, the grand work of wiping out our national debt was going on silently but swiftly at a stupendous pace. Taking a working day at twelve hours, the process of reduction was carried out at the rate of a fraction over forty-three thousand and ten dollars per hour, or nearly seven hundred and seventeen dollars per minute, the grand total for the month being about sixteen millions of dollars. It might be admitted that this is not bad work for a people during their vacation period.

Egypt and Islam.

Under this caption Rev. H. H. Jessup, D. D., an eminent and well known Presbyterian misssonary, who was in Egypt during the recent massacre of Christians, has contributed to the Foreign Missionary, for September, an elaborate and valuable article. He prefaces his sketch with a brief outline of modern Egyptian history for the purpose of estimating the bearing of the present struggle on the future relations of Islam and Christianity. This question disposed of Dr. Jessup proceeds to give the character of the present khedive, Ismail Pacha. Opinions differ with regard to his character. The two European governments —England and France —have been on the most friendly terms with him. He is represented as an amiable, somewhat cultivated young man, but lacking the vigor of his ancestors. Dr. Jessup says:

Ismail Pacha was always friendly with the American missionaries and gave them a valuable property in Cairo, and his son Towfink has continued the same friendly policy. Both promoted schools and learning, and gave every encouragement to authors, teachers, and newspaper editors. Soon after asuming the reigns of government, Towfink confirmed what is called the "Anglo French Control," a financial board to which is entrusted the entire financial administration of the land of Egypt. Formerly taxes were collected on the basis of extorting all that the people could possibly pay, even under the lash. The fellahin were ground into the dust, and however great their crops, grew poorer and poorer evey year.

Under the "Control" these expenditures have been reduced to a regular sum, taxation adjusted, so that the poor fellah knows exactly what he is to pay, and on payment receives a a receipt which protects him from extortion. The viceroy voluntarily surrendered his own private revenues for the good of the country.

The new order of things was a benefaction to the land. Egypt became more prosperous than ever. The common people were protected from the horde of despotic Sheikhs, mudirs, multezims, and the military and civil employes received regular salaries. but first class business men of European training could not be induced to live in Egypt on salaries which natives would be contented with. The discharged native employes, and the disappointed local native officials, now prevented from despoiling the people, raised the cry, "the European must go."

Dr. Jessup then proceeded to give the reasons for Arabi's revolt, which are little understood by the average reader, and which are so important for an intelligent understanding of the present conflict. Certain reforms, he says, were introduced in the Egyptian army, by which the regiments were reduced in number, without diminishing the number of men under arms. This affected several colonels and superior officers, among whom was one Arabi Bey, a colonel and two of his companions, the leaders in the present revolt. After numerous petitions to his superiors, Arabi was at length allowed to remain in office, but continued discontented, and spread discontent and insubordination throughout the army which gradually gained the mastery and dictated terms to the khedive. The military, made up chiefly of fanatical Mohammedans, now began, through a ministry of their own making, a systematic persecution of the European and Christian population in Egypt.

After considering the animus of the porte, which is also one of the underlying causes of the trouble, Dr. Jessup say that Arabi after being raised from the rank of colonel to that of Pacha, or general; and then made minister of war, took a course of direct rebellion against the khedive, which only could be explained by the supposition that he was secretly supported by the Sublime Porte at Constantinople. Continuing on this theme, the doctor says:

It is now plain from recent revelations, that Arabi Pacha was regarded as a fit instrument for promoting the cause in Egypt. From the moment of his gaining power, a change took place all along the valley of the Nile. Christian employes of the government were discharged and Moslems appointed in their places. The Coptic Christians in Egypt have from time immemorial filled the posts of scribes, clerks and revenue officers in every part of Egypt. They have now been removed by Arabi and his party, and Mohammedans have been appointed in their place. The Coptic and other native Christians have been insulted and threatened. Even before the recent rupture between Arabi and the allies of the khedive, there had begun all over Egypt a feeling of alarm among the Christians as to the future.

In discussing the assertion that Arabi is a patriot striving to free his country from foreign rule, the distinguished divine says:

It is a perversion of language to apply the term patriot to such a man. About the time of the Alexandria massacre of June 11, he went to the mosque in Cairo attended by his followers, and at the close of the usual prayer, said in the hearing of all: "Allah grant me the privilege of seeing the streets of Cairo flow with Christian blood." I was informed of this in Alexandria on June 19th by one who heard the statement from the lips of a person present in the mosque at the time.

Patriotism, in the common acceptation of the term, is love of one's own country and countrymen. In the Moslem sense it means love of all Moslems and death to all infidels. A Mohammedan patriot is patriotic when burning his neighbor's house and massacreing him and his family. Although there have been noble exceptions to this rule, it is true that Mohammedanism, when it has the power, is an intolerant and persecuting faith. The course of Arabi in identifying himself with the lowest fanatical element in Egyptian society, has revealed the hollowness of his claim to be a patriotic friend of his country. The donning of the green turban, which is worn by the pretended lineal descendants of the prophet, and the long robe which is worn by the ulema, is only an appeal to the superstitious devotion of a semi-barbarous people.

The massacres at Alexandria, Tantah, Ismailiyeh, Monsura and Mehalleh only indicate what may be expected, in case this usurper succeeds in establishing his rule, not only in Egypt itself, but in the adjacent provinces. The success of Arabi would involve not only the overthrow of established order and good government, the restoration of absolutism and arbitrary rule, the oppression of the poor, and the destruction of the forms in civil administration, but also the stifling of liberty in the press, and the serious interruption, if not total suppression, of liberty of conscience.

The emient missionary then proceeds to show how the entire missionary corps have been obliged to leave their work in Egypt since the massacre of June 11th, and that the success of the military adventurer would be the triumph of barbarism, intolerance and inhumanity, when he closes his interesting paper.

GENERAL WOLSELEY'S bulletins reveal one of the secrets of his popularity. He is prefuse in his acknowledgements of the service rendered by the officers under his command. Compliments are bestowed with a lavish hand and every prominent officer's soldierly qualities are recognized and recorded. It is not strange that British officers should be anxious at all times to fight and work under a General who distributes honors so generously and does not suffer anyone's reputation to decrease in his service. There was no lack of volunteers when he went out to the Gold Coast without an army and only expected to array one native race against another; and when he found his plan of operations impracticable and was furnished with an army for the Ashantee campaign, he gave credit wherever it was due and added to the reputation of every one of his followers. The "Ashantee set" rallied around him when he was appointed to the command of the Egyptian expedition, and not without reason.

A YOUNG Marylander, who sympathized with the rebellion, is not the man for the Democracy to support for governor, and there are plenty who do not hesitate to say that the convention blundered in nominating him. Mr. Hopkins, a gentleman of mature and enlarged views, well known in his party, and calculated from his standing and ability to give character and dignity to a campaign, was thrown overboard that a mere boy from Maryland, who the managers are afraid to send out, must be nominated. It is not strange, therefore, that discerning Democrats snuff defeat in the air. Pattison, you will be allowed to stick to your desk.

The Workingmen's Party.

The party which does the most for the steady growth and prosperity of the country is the real and only true workingmen's party. The majority of American citizens are laboring men. They are farmers, manufacturers, mechanics, miners, day laborers, and workers, in all the various arts and industrial pursuits. But with all the tact and skill, and natural and acquired ability of these classes, they could make no general progress and success without the aid and direction of a wise and good government.

International commerce must be brought under certain rules, must be shaped and controlled in such manner as shall best develop, protect, and benefit our diversified national interests. This can only be done by wise and able statemen in honest legislation for the people's welfare.

The State of Pennsylvania furnishes a most complete and wonderful example of what right laws and good government can do in making available natural resources, and peculiar local conditions, for the public weal. Our Commonwealth is not solely an agricultural State, like many of the middle and western States, but is possessed of a variety and vastness of material wealth, of resources, of commerce and production, far beyond that of any other State. In all respects it stands second to the Empire State, and is even superior in some special qualities and interests. In mechanical industry it holds an incomparably advanced position.

Therefore, to perpetually maintain the development of these resources and the harmony of these great and varied interests throughout the State, so as to promote the continuous prosperity of all classes of citizens, will readily be ackwowledged to require great wisdom, practical judgment, and a most liberal spirit, on the part of those having the control of the State government.

It is in this view of the question that we make our earnest appeal to workingmen. We are looking now directly to their interests in the important matter of political party supremacy. We ask the workingmen to look back at the the past, and reflect upon the untold amount of money, the millions and millions of dollars that have been paid into their pockets by the owners of mines, iron works, factories, shops, railroads, organizations and companies, that were made prosperous only by the protective laws and measures of Republican administrations.

The Republican party is, therefore, in the most desirable and practical sense, the workingmen's party. Outside of this party the workingmen can have no reasonable hope or promise for the present or future. They can insure nothing to themselves by forming a new and separate party, and their attempt in this direction will be only the granting of so much aid toward the success of the Democratic party,—and, with the success of the Democratic party would come a harder time to the workingmen of Pennsylvania than they have experienced for the last twenty-five years. With the protection that the Republican tariff has given to the industries of this State being removed, and the Democratic doctrine of free trade put in its place, European competition soon put out the fires of our furnaces, stop the shuttles of our looms, and send the workingmen begging for bread. Let it be remembered, it is alone in, and with the Republican party that the workingmen can find kindly consideration, be allowed their proper position, and be protected in all their just claims and rights.

THE Northern Cheyennes have declared their intention of migrating from Indian territory to Pine Ridge agency, Dakota, regardless of the wishes of the Indian office. The matter is under consideration.

What can it Be.

There is something really remarkable about the turn affairs are taking all over this commonwealth. From every county we hear of Democrats who have openly stated their fixed intention to vote for Beaver, and as the weeks draw toward election time this political phenomena becomes more and more pronounced. At first we sought an explanation of this unusual state of things in General Beaver's undoubted superiority in culture and political morality to the Democratic candidate, but recently after reading General Hancock's warm letter, endorsing Beaver the mist fell from our eyes and we could see plainly why loyal Pennsylvanians of the Democratic party should perfer entrusting the destinies of the state to one thus endorsed by the virtuous veteran commander of the Second corps, rather than a tricky ill-advised and ill-balanced youth from Maryland, who not only opposed Hancock's Presidential aspirations, but has always valued his selfish interests more than the good of his party.

Pattison has always been a most ineffable egotist with all the arrogant presumption and fitful weakness of persons so afflicted, and should by any unlucky fatality, the gubernatorial mantle fall on him, its voluminous folds would smother the unfortunate pigmy, and the party which put him in power would be the laughing stock of the whole country, while Cassidy and Josephs, M[illegible] Mullen and Co., would do the Jack Horner business for all the plums in the political pie and retire with [illegible] concert of discordant chuckles [illegible] obscurity from which they [illegible] never again be invited to [illegible] unless the government of the state were relegated to the inmates of Kirkbride's.

Like many generals in the late war who never won a victory nor led a body of men with decent courage or ability, yet whose names were continually before the public as models of bravery and distinguished service, Pattison has made for himself a sort of newspaper notoriety much too insignificant to be called reputation, but of great importance to his little pettifogging mind.

He has constantly, in the most petty manner, annoyed and troubled the contractors by refusing for the most whimsical reasons to countersign their warrants, causing them considerable loss and worriment and injuring them in the performance of their duties. The reporters have been duly informed, and the newspapers herald forth the praises of this marvel of conscientious honesty, and as soon as this is done, and the gullible taxpayers have cried in ecstatic admiration, "Great is Pattison of the eastern sho. You bet we'll vote for him some mo;" then without apology or giving any reasons for his conduct he signs the warrants, having gained the notoriety he desired. In this way he has managed to be talked about and won the entire approval of his foretime teacher and present boss and trainer, Lewis Cassidy. But there are two things very much against the success of Pattison's little game, and those are, time and General Beaver. Pattison is losing so rapidly in the esteem of his former supporters, who, while they love the Democratic party, love truth, manliness and loyality better, that the ides of November will be to him a bitter revelation of his insignificance, and as Beaver wounded in body but unscratched and unsullied in honor moves through the state, the people will not be slow to give him their loyal allegiance and hearty support.—Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin.

REPORTS from Texas indicate that that state will have twenty million bushels of corn for sale this year.

AT last accounts Sprague was still on guard at Canonchet with his little shot gun.

GENERAL NOTES.

THE fretful porcupine infests Carroll county Ohio.

IT HAS been an unusually easy summer on car horses.

WASHINGTON eats seven thousand hard crabs per day.

IRISH constables are determined to have more pay.

GENERAL GRANT and Mrs. Grant are visiting in New England.

THE tariff commission was in session last week at Buffalo, N. Y.

A KIND of dwarf kangaroo hops over the Staked Plains of Texas.

DR. REYBURN is said to ask $8,500 for his attendance upon President Garfield.

THE widow of Senator Ben Wade is reported to be dangerously ill at her home in Jefferson Ohio.

J. N. CASH, defaulting cashier of the Exchange bank of Franklin, is being tried at that place.

CONGRESSMEN Morrison, of Illinois; Orth, of Indiana, and Tucker, of Virginia, have been renominated.

PATRICK DALEY fell a distance of sixty feet from a scaffold in Erie, on Saturday last, and was instantly killed.

THE fishing operations at Newfoundland and vicinity have been far from successful during the past season.

JOHN J. KNOX, comptroller of the currency, has returned to Washington, and resumed his official duties yesterday.

TERENCE POWDERLY, of Carbondale, father of Mayor T. V. Powderly, of Scranton, died on Saturday after a brief illness.

SIX INMATES of the Camden, N. J., prison made a bold move for liberty on Wednesday afternoon. Three are still at large.

BALTIMORE butchers intend to form an association to prevent the importation of western beef. Cheaper prices would do it.

CARDINAL MCCLOSKEY, who is at a private cottage at Newport, is very feeble. He refuses to see any but his most intimate acquaintances.

THE Cincinnati Price Current estimates the total corn crop for the present year at 1,800,000,000 bushels, or 50 per cent. larger than the crop last year.

WARREN C. EVANS, a lawyer of Norristown died in Pottstown on Monday night of typhoid malarial fever, at the age of 36 years. He was taken sick on Sunday.

A MAN named Swackhammer has died near Wilson, Niagara county, New York, of blood poisoning, contracted from cattle which have died of the Texas fever.

ALBERT M. RHEINHART accidentally shot and killed himself on Sunday while playing with a revolver at his residence in Windsor township, York county.

THE prohibitionists of Wisconsin avow their intention to cut loose from all other parties, and to nominate candidates for every office to be filled by the popular vote this fall.

THE republican congressional compaign committee is devoting its chief attention to Maine at present. The democratic committee is trying to carry Ohio and California.

ALL THE members of the American team to compete against the British team of riflemen at Creedmore had their first practice together on Tuesday. The shooting at the short range was good.

A STATE convention has been called in Nebraska, to meet in Hastings, September 27, to nominate, in connection with the State farmers' alliance, an independent anti-monopoly State ticket.

EVA BRIGGS, a Lawrence girl, who was claimed to have been relieved of hip disease recently by the faith cure at Old Orchard, has been taken to an insane asylum, crazed by her religious excitement.

DENNIS KEARNEY, the blantant demagogue, has made a speech in Sacramento, Cal., in favor of the election of General Sherman, the Democratic nominee for governor of the State. Such advocacy ought alone to defeat him.

CAPTAIN D. R. ATHENSON, Thirteeth regiment, and Major E. O. Shakespeare, of the staff of the National Guard, will represent Pennsylvania on the American rifle team who are to contest with the British team at Creedmore.

THE greenbackers of Delaware have postponed their state convention until the third Saturday in September. They intend to nominate full state and county tickets and to make an active campaign.

A LONG BRANCH train, which left Jamesburg at 5.40 Wednesday evening, struck a wagon containing a man and a boy, near Manasquan, killing the man and fatally injuring the boy. The horses attached to the wagon were also killed.

SECRETARY FOLGER is reported to be in poor health, although he continues at his desk in the treasury department, and he will probably take a holiday in a few days. Assistant Secretary French has been acting as secretary of the treasury for several days.

THE Board of Direction of the coming Garfield fair have appointed State boards for the several States. The gentlemen named for Pennsylvania are Hon. J. K. McCommon, chairman. R. T. Cheyney, K. P. Gleeson, H. Brady Wilkins, Paul Hersh and John Bingham.

THE will of the late Jesse Hoyt, the wealthy grain merchant of New York, was filed on Tuesday. The only public bequests are certain lots in the city of East Saginaw, Mich., to lay out a public park there and build a public library on part of it, toward the erection of which he also bequeathed the sum of $100,000.

A NUMBER of professional and philanthropic ladies now at Dryden Springs, New York, have organized a "Women's Sanitary Association," which is designed to be "national in its purposes and scope," and to "agitate and promote measures of practical sanitary reform." Miss S. S. Nivison, M. D., has been elected president of the association.

Poetry.

LINES ON A SKELETON.

[Sixty years ago the London Morning Chronicle published a poem entitled, "Lines on a Skeleton," which excited much attention. Every effort, even to the offering of fifty guineas, was vainly made to discover the author. All that ever transpired was that the poem, in a fair, clerkly hand, was found near a skeleton of remarkable beauty of form and color, in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, Lincoln's Inn, London, and that the curator of the museum had sent them to Mr. Perry, editor and proprietor of the Morning Chronicle:]

Behold this ruin! 'Twas a skull
Once of ethereal spirit full;
This narrow cell was Life's retreat,
This space was Thought's mysterious seat.
What beauteous visions filled this spot,
What dreams of pleasure long forgot!
Nor hope nor pleasue, joy nor fear,
Has left one trace of record here.

Beneath this mouldering canopy
Once shone the bright and busy eye;
But start not at the dismal void—
If social love that eye employed,
If with no lawless fire it gleamed,
But through the dews of kindness beamed,
That eye shall be forever bright
When stars and suns are sunk in night.

Within this hollow cavern hung
The ready, swift, and tuneful tongue;
If falsehood's honey it disdained,
And, where it could not praise, was chained;
If bold in virtue's cause it spoke,
Yet gentle concord never broke.
This silent tongue shall plead for thee
When time unveils eternity.

Say, did these fingers delve the mine?
Or with its envied rubies shine?
To hew the rock or wear the gem,
Can little now avail to them.
But, if the path of truth they sought,
Or comfort to the mourner brought,
These hands a richer meed shall claim
Than all that wait on Wealth and Fame.

Avails it whether bare or shod
These feet the path of duty trod.
If from the bowers of Ease they fled,
To seek Affliction's humble bed;
If Grandeur's guilty bribe they spurned,
And home to virtue's cot returned,
These feet with angels' wings shall vie
And tread the palace of the sky.

The Light in the Window.

BY MRS. MATTIE E. FURRY.

As some lost soul shut out from Heaven's gate
Wanders alone in sadness and in night,
Striving to catch one last and lingering sight
Of a blest spirit robed in happy state,
So do I come in solitary plight,
As oft the day from night's advance hath fled,
To wander long where falls the glimmering light
From thy low casement, with uncertain tread
And straining eyes, that thus perchance I see
In flitting gleams obscure, or vision clear,
A pale, sweet face, of all the world to me
Beyond compare, desirable and dear,
And in that moment blest, O tender heart!
Return in peace, unconscious though thou art.

Our Story Teller.

"The Course of True Love."

BY ANTHONY E. ANDERSON.

Miss Majendie stares thoughtfully beneath her broad-brimmed summer hat. She is sitting on the beach, and every little while she makes a sweeping little curve in the wet sand with her parasol, scarcely aware of the fact herself, she is thinking so deeply.

It is not at all Miss Majendie's usual custom to be sitting so very quietly by herself, so let us take advantage of the opportunity, and find out what she is like.

In the first place, she is tall and graceful; we are quite sure of that, even though she is sitting on the ground. Just now you may declare her a very sober and thoughtful young lady, though you may change your mind, perhaps, half an hour from now.

The face is straight and fair, and delicately cut. The eyes are a deep wine brown; the dark-fringed lids have a way of dropping over them every few moments, which is very bewildering. The mouth is small and rose-red, half inclined to be always smiling, half inclined to take a haughty curve. Altogether, there is an air about Miss Cecilia Majendie which is very bewitching.

At last Miss Mejendie wakes to a realization of the facts that the bathers are leaving the beach, and that the dinner hour is drawing nigh.

As she rises to her feet preparatory to sauntering toward the Arctic House, she finds that the spot upon which she stands is surrounded with innumerable C's, which she had traced in the sand with her parasol.

Feeling half vexed with herself, Cecilia deliberately steps on them to obliterate all signs of her having been there. The disinterested observer may think the letters were scrawled there because C is the initial letter of Cecilia's name; but the disinterested observer is apt to be very much mistaken.

If Carrol Whiting had seen those letters, I think he would have been quite conceited enough to declare that C stood for Carrol, and not for Cecilia.

The Arctic House is certainly not a misnomer, for the dining-room of the hotel is deliciously cool and breezy, notwithstanding the sultriness of the day without.

There has been a new arrival—Miss Majendie can see that at a glance as she enters; for the guests of the Arctic have an expectant, wide-awake look generally absent in this dull summer resort, where the greatest sensations always looked forward to with boundless joy are weekly picnics and the arrivals of the mail.

Carrol Whiting, of all men, handsome, careless, distingue as ever! Cecilia bites her rose-red under lip with vexation, and wonders what in the world brought him here now, when he knows how much her aunt, Mrs. Carmichael, is set against him.

Carrol makes an involuntary step forward as she comes up; but she sweeps calmly by without so much as looking at him.

She wished to show him that she is very much displeased with him, indeed—to punish him for tagging her here. Besides, Mrs. Carmichael is watching them intently, anything but pleased at seeing Carrol Whiting at the Arctic.

Cecilia chats gaily with her neighbor, a vivacious little Frenchman, while Carrol glowered fiercely at them from the other side of the table, to the intense amusement of Cecilia's friends, who know, or think they know, all about this charming little romance from real life being played before them.

Mrs. Carmichael is highly delighted to think that Cis is beginning to show a little sense at last—that she has given that penniless upstart, Carrol Whiting, the cut direct. For Mrs. Caemichael is very rich, and Cecilia Majendie is sole heiress to the boundless Carmichael acres and endless bank account.

"The course of true love never did run smooth," it is said, and this truth poor Cecilia learns, when Mrs. Carmichael learns her penchant for Carrol Whiting.

Mrs. Carmichael declares, with cold, cutting displeasure on her fair, aristocratic face, that she will cut Cis off without a shilling, if she marries Carrol Whiting. Then she dismisses the subject without further words, and takes her niece with her to the seaside.

I suppose if Cis Majendie had been a heroine of a novel, she would have flown to her lover on the wings of love and married him on the spot, not bestowing one mercenary thought on the cool million of dollars she was leaving behind.

But I must be candid, however ashamed I am of my heroine, and say that she does nothing of the kind. Being a modern nineteenth century girl, she has a very sensible idea of the value of "filthy lucre."

She loves Carrol dearly, but she loves the good things of this life also. She means to keep her lover, and she means to have the money, too, if that be possible.

After dinner Mrs. Carmichael retired to her room for her accustomed nap, and Cis goes out for a game of croquet. She knows that Carrol will follow her, but is apparently deeply absorbed in an interested contemplation of the stripes on her mallet when he comes up.

"Miss Majendie," he says, in a low voice, full of jealous pain and suppressed displeasure.

"Why, Mr. Whiting; is that really you?" says Cis, lifting her exquisite vivant face, and flashing those bewildering eyes at him. "This is indeed a surprise!" in an abominally formal tone.

"And not an agreeable surprise, either, it seems," says Carrol, furiously gnawing his blonde mustache.

As if mentally debating the question, Cis gazes thoughtfully at the dainty boot peeping from beneath the white flounces of her dress, but says nothing.

"Who is that impudent fellow there staring at us?" says Carrol elevantly, growing more furious every moment.

Cis looks at him surprisedly.

"That is Mr. Berry," she says, sweetly. "He is just too charming for anything. Very rich, too. Don't you think him handsome? Would you like an introduction?"

"No!" bursts forth Carrol to both these questions, conceiving on the spot a deadly hatred for the young man so favored by the gods. "He looks like a conceited prig, and I wouldn't know him for worlds! Cissy," less excitedly and very miserably, "you don't like him so very much, do you?"

Cis deliberates, while Carrol stands before her like an anxious culprit, every moment expecting his death warrant.

"Well—no," she says, slowly, "I never said I liked him very much, did I?" Then she laughs softly, "Carrol, what a silly goose you are!"

Carrol gazes at her rapturously, and looks as if she had paid him an unparalleled compliment.

"And now please go away," says Cis, cruelly dashing his sudden happiness. "If aunty sees us together I'm sure I don't know what will happen. Besides, every one is looking at us, thinking, no doubt, that you are a new specimen of the genus lunatic. Mr. Berry has heard every word you said, I'm positive."

"Mr. Berry be hanged!" muttered Carrol, striding disconsolately down toward the beach.

"Poor Carrol" thinks Cis, tenderly. "I can't imagine what he finds to love in mercenary little me. How imprudent of him to come here! He may spoil all with his impetuous jealousy. But I won't marry him without aunty's consent!" closing the rosy red lips very decidedly.

Courage, Carrol! Mrs. Carmichael's consent is to come much sooner than you expect, and in a manner you do not dream of.

The very next day Carrol is strolling along the beach, feeling very ill used indeed, and thinking it would be a great relief if he could only hate the mercenary girl he loves so much.

But somehow he has only loving thoughts of the girl who has stolen his heart, though the knowledge of how almost hopeless his love is makes him very miserable.

Mrs. Carmichael's party are bathing, and as Carrol watches Cis, he thinks she looks like a sea nymph.

Poor Carrol is very far gone indeed, and does not see any incongruity in a sea nymph wearing a baggy bathing suit.

Then something happens which might have ended in a sorrowful tragedy. Mrs. Carmichael ventures a trifle too far out alone, and is immediately thrown off her feet by the current.

She utters a low wail of terror, which seems to paralyze the rest of the party. Only Carrol has presence of mind enough to dash into the water, and bring her, almost unconscious, to land.

Of course he is lionized and made much of at the Arctic—though driven to desperation by their attentions, he declares again and again that it is only what any one of Mrs. Carmichael's party would have done the next moment, if he had permitted them the opportunity.

But, though he hates to be praised, he is in the seventh heaven of delight when Cis takes him by the hand, with grateful tears on her dark lashes.

Of course you can guess the sequel. Mrs. Carmichael summons her niece and Carrol the next day, and declares that if Cis doesn't, within three months, marry the man who saved her life, not a penny of her money shall she have.

And our mercenary little heroine tells Carrol that she can't bear to lose so much money because of the slight incumbrance he will be; and so—she marries him.

Mr. Dougherty's Views.

Dan Dougherty, of Philadelphia, the Irish orator, is on board the City of Rome, with his wife and two daughters, going to the Swiss Eugardine. Mr. Daugherty, for the man who put Hancock in nomination at Cincinnati, is not so much elated as we might expect over the Democratic prospects in Pennsylvania, said: "The party has selected for Governor a young man with no record whatever leading up to such an honor and simply on the score of his honesty. I admit that he has been a good city officer though I dislike to see that point made so strenuously, as if honesty was the rarest quality in American life. Are we so forlorn that nothing but honesty is the requisite for a Governor of a State? Honesty ought to be the practice of every household, and I think it is far more general in Pennsylvania than this selection would admit. Mr. Pattison is not only a young man for such a position as Governor, but he was a candidate for office while almost a boy. Being yet a law student he came out for a place and his maturity has been constantly absorbed either in office seeking or office holding. I think he has never made an appearance at the bar—certainly in no case of moment. I am told that General Beaver made an elegant argument in a case of consequence some little while back. While I have been an indignant enemy of the Camerons and all their works and opened out on them in my Lancaster speech years before this revolt started, I must think that their candidate is better prepared by law and war and other things to rule a State than Mr. Pattison. The latter ought to be continued in the useful city office he now adorns instead of being raised from the common place to the eminent dignity of Governor. As to the Democratic party, said Mr. Dougherty, "it is determined to blunder anywhere. Such fatality of error and failure must be the result of inherent idiocy and disease."

Love's Works.

A century since in the north of England stood an old cathedral upon one of the arches of which was a sculptured face of wondrous beauty. It was long hidden, until one day the sun's light striking through a slanted window revealed its matchless features. And ever after year by year upon the days when, for a brief hour it was illuminated, crowds came and waited eagerly to catch a glimpse of that face. It was a strange history. When the cathedral was being built an old man, broken with the weight of years and care, came and besought the architect to let him work upon it. Out of pity for his age, but fearful lest his failing sight and trembling touch might mar some fair design, the master set him to work in the shadows of the vaulted roof. One day they found the old man asleep in death, the tools of his craft laid in order beside him, the cunning of his right hand gone, his face upturned to this other marvellous face, which he had wrought there—the face of one whom he had loved and lost in his early manhood. And when the artists and sculptors and workmen from all parts of the cathedral came and looked upon that face they said, "This is the grandest work of all; love wrought this!"

In the great cathedral of the ages—the Temple being builded for an habitation of God—we shall all learn sometime that love's work is the grandest of all.

Curious Fact.

It is a curious fact that in Montgomery county there are thirteen villages of which the word "square" is part of their name or title. There is Limerick Square, in Limerick township; New Hanover Square in New Hanover township; Harmony Square, in Perkiomen township; Franconia Square, in Franconia township; Providence Square, in Lower Providence township; Penn Square in Norriton township; Centre Square and Washington Square, in Whitpain township; Union Square Towamancin township; Hatfield Square in Hatfield township; Montgomery Square, Montgomery township, and Merion Square in Lower Merion township. Why there is such a great fancy for the name of Square, in the country, we do not know; certainly not because all the villages so designated are built as squares.

Some genius has transformed bicycle riding into "bicycular vehiculstion." No wonder the spider-like things are so difficult for beginners to manipulate.

Canonchet in Decay.

Opposite Newport and overlooking the sea is Canonchet, late the home of Kate Chase Sprague, and her late husband, ex-Governor Sprague. Canonchet, as a country seat, was the design of Mrs. Sprague. She named it after the Indian chief who was at the head of the Narragansett tribe. It has high turrets and is surrounded with elms. The whole is enclosed by a hedge of evergreens. Where everything was once rich, gay, palatial looking, grand and imposing, now all is decay. It is like a ruined cotton king's home in the south, after the war. Everything in the house is of French walnut, plate glass, carved oak, grand and oriental in finish. Each bed chamber has its separate bath room and lavatory. Every ceiling is in the richest fresco. The grand building was once a majestic old farm house. Mrs. Sprague changed it by adding towers, wings, extensions, additions, piazzas and porches. Governor Sprague bought the old place, just before he married Judge Chase's daughter. She then undertook to transform the old house into a magnificent castle. Gov. Sprague told her to go ahead, but to preserve the old place as much as possible. Sixty rooms were added and a colony of Italian fresco painters took possession. A Boston artist, at a large salary, was engaged to superintend the designs. A blue room, in imitation of one in the white house, was made at great expense. There was one room for Chief Justice Chase, most elaborately decorated. The library on the second floor cost $10,000. The library on the third floor was constructed for Mrs. Sprague's own use. The frescoers were put aside for the wood carvers. Money was spent without stint. The mistress of the mansion came back from Europe full of ideas about wood carving. She brought back an old carved wood mantel that once filled the room in the Tuileries, occupied by Marie Antoinette. Black oak carved pictures formed its facade. Smaller carved mantles were taken from European castles for the Rhode Island villa.

A COSTLY STAIRCASE.

A grand staircase was projected. It leads from within the porte cocher to the top of the tower—its ending being as odd as its beginning. It cost $30,000, but it does not afford the most convenient means of reaching the upper stories. A running, unbroken line of carving extends from the top to the bottom. The newel is a marvel of carving and polishing. Two polishers were kept at work three years to give the staircase the polish that it still retains. Nothing in New York resembles it in beauty. It is doubtful whether it can be matched in this country. The steps are as smooth as glass. The stairs wind upward with such unbroken grandeur that the natural expectation that they lead to some grand salon gives way to disappointment at their abrupt termination in the tower. On the landing at the second floor there is a well hole surrounded with a carved oak balustrade. There is a window at each landing, and in the elaborately engraved plate glass there are exquisite little circular paintings, representing Indian scenes Rhenish landscapes, ocean views and other designs. The staircase is uniform in beauty and richness until it ends.

Carved mermaids of polished oak hold up the shelf of a mantle in the dining room with graceful, plump arms. There is a sophisticated expression in their faces, resembling that of a Washington belle, while Bacchus, with his wreath of grape leaves over his brow, seems to leer at them from the top of the carved sideboard opposite. The dining table is also carved with reminiscences of grand feasts, rich in the product of the field and vintage. At each end of the dining room is an elevated annex, lined and pillared with oak. One was almost made of finely engraved plate glass, through which the stretch of the ocean can be seen.

A BEAUTIFUL ROOM.

Surprises await the visitor in the house. Up in the tower where nothing is expected is a beautiful little room in Pompeiian red, spangled with gold, where meals for two were served. On the first floor is a room for a page, whose duty it was to attend at the door, to keep the cards of visitors neatly arranged, and keep up a book of addresses of Mrs. Sprague's friends. Next to this was the telegraph office, where an operater was kept in summer months. Where one would expect to find the parlors is a kitchen, with a stove that cost $400 and a sink made of red marble. A dish room next to it looked like such an apartment in a club house. It contained the most delicate and transparent china, fine Venetian glass carafes, the choicest glassware of every description, and wine glasses of the frailest sort. Further on, in an odder place, is a laundry. Everywhere, however, there is a scarcity of closets, which had a typical New England housewife been the architect, would have preponderated. The parlors were never finished. They are not large and are not well placed. The fresco paintings were elaborate, and the walls hung with white satin that cost $12 a yard.

A sudden turn brings into view a gorgeous apartment, floored with polished marble, with a dismantled fountain The design was Moorish. If a guide had said, "Here the odalisques used to sport and bathe," it would not have seemed strange, for by this time Rhode Island was forgotten and the chimera of architecture repeatedly suggested the Orient. The apartment was, however, designed for a music room. Mrs. Sprague intended to have six grand pianos there. The fresco painters had outlined a beautiful design, illustrating the chase of a butterfly by boys, and it was partly worked out. When the financial crash came they dropped the paint pots upon the floor, and they remain there. The room is a splendid ruin.

There is scarcely a picture or a painting in the house. In the daintily finished blue and gray room designed for Chief Justice Chase is an unframed oil portrait of a pretty blonde girl with her hand on a pet dog's head. It was that of his daughter by his first marriage who died in her childhood. A carved mantel of black oak that would be treasured by Sypher was in an obscure room. A massive Venetian armoire and other Venetian furniture was mixed in with Yankee household goods. A feature of the construction of the house is a false hearth in each room, beneath which is a chute for ashes and dust leading to the cellar. Electric bells were scattered through the house. There are splendid chandeliers, but no gas.

Amid these scenes of decay ex-Governor Sprague and his boy Willie have lived for several years in solitude broken by great excitement as the officers of the law have come about the place. Fifty guests, with thirty servants, at one time spent merry days here at the expense of the host, who keeps a loaded shotgun now resting on the carved mantel upheld by the mermaids. An occasional lady friend has, in visiting the place, put a check to the ruin and loss by having the rich carpets moved from beneath the leaks, and securing the silverware found behind books in closets, and even in the grass on the lawn. Much of the furniture has been boxed up and sent away from Canonchet, and much remains.

One room was not opened until recently by ex-Governor Sprague. It was the one occupied by his wife, and when she quitted Canonchet the door was locked and her husband carried the key. When she obtained a divorce he packed up her goods and sent them to her. The room was known among strangers as the "mysterious chamber." When the ex-governor showed the mansion to visitors he passed this closed door in silence.

PLANS NEVER CARRIED OUT.

Mrs. Sprague's plans were never completed. She hoped to make it the grandest villa in America, and it is said that her early ambition was to establish a political salon far from all rivals, where her entertainments would attract the men of power and influence in the land, who could help her in her design to make her father President of the United States. When this ambition was blighted, she is said to have desired to reign as social queen, and she prepared her environment accordingly.

When the first batch of work was finished on Canonchet, ex-Governor Sprague then a man of large affairs, was under the impression that it had cost about $40,000. One day his brother Amasa, who had charge of the finances, asked him about insuring the place. "Well, put $25,000 on it," said the ex-governor.

"Twenty-five thousand!" exclaimed Amasa, "Do you know what it has cost?"

"Not over $50,000."

"Well," said Amasa, "here are bills for $600,000."

The property which was sold for $62,250 cost nearly if not all of a million dollars. In the whirligig of time it passes into the hands of a husband of a descendant of old Gov. Atwood Robinson. Mr. Francis D. Moulton, it is believed, has purchased it for a speculation. It has often been talked of as a grand club house, and again as a gambling house and cafe for millionaires. The landscape about it is in its primitive state. Two hundred acres of it are made up of a salt marsh with an inlet from the sea. Mrs. Sprague expected that her husband would build ornamental stables and adorn the grounds, but he never did. There is not yet a setting for the costly and odd jewel.

Managing a Husband.

The next best thing to pleasing a man's stomach is for his wife to dress a bit, for his especial benefit; he is so hungry that it would need but a spark to kindle a flame; but when he enters and sees the appetizing dinner in the act of being dished, his little woman smiling, neat and tidy, it acts upon him like a dose of soothing syrup. The dust might be an inch thick on the mantelpiece—he would not see it; broken crockery and cobwebs might fill every corner—he would look upon them with all the complacency imaginable, and not attempt their annihilation. While washing, he tells his wife how pretty she is, how becoming her hair is arranged in that fashion, says no other man ever had such a dear little love of a woman for a wife, asks what she has for dinner that smells so good, and though he is really starving, waits upon the table with all the grace and politeness of a Chesterfield; and selects the best of everything for his little wife's plate. During meal-time he tells her all about his work, asks her advice in regard to his plans, tells funny stories, propounds conundrums, cracks jokes and renders the dinner hour a very enjoyable affair. After it is over he makes love to his wife, plays with the children, sings comic songs, then goes to his work, whistling merrily, at peace with all the world, thinking he has the happiest home in the land, while his wife follows him to the door, saying within herself: "What a blessing it is to have such a dear, good, cheerful, loving husband."

If the man who is going to tell us that the thin corn-husks indicate warmer weather in September than we will have during August will kindly call on that errand after nine o'clock p. m., the item of his terrible death will give our fourth page fellows a boss scoop on our evening contemporary.

A hackman recently went into the surf at Long Branch and encountered a huge shark. There eyes met for an instant, when the shark blushed and swam out.—Puck.

All Sorts.

The front door mat is always ready to scrape a new acquaintance.

The platform is woman's proper sphere. Most of them are born lecturers.

A Kentucky woman has married a Mr. Calico—has wedded a print, as it were.

It takes a good deal of grief to kill a woman just after she has got a new seal-skin sacque.

Idle companions are like some medicines; they are of no service until they are shaken.

Here is a suggestion which may do you good:—If every man will mend one we shall all be mended.

A scandal monger is not simply the man who tells all he knows, but the man who tells more than he knows.

A Chicago paper puts it:—"Marble, too. Pelton, too." Now we want to know what "too" and "too" are for?

Night brings out stars, as sorrow shows us truth. We never see stars till we can see little or naught else, and so it is with truth.

Teacher to small boy: "What does the proverb say about those who live in glass houses?" Small boy: "Pull down the blinds."

John Chinaman's remark to Brother Jonathan at this time is: "Why this scoldness on your partee? Allee same, me coolie, too."

"I want a little change," said Mrs. B. to her husband. "Well," was the heartless response, "just wait for it. Time brings change to everybody."

None are too wise to be mistaken, but few are so wisely just as to acknowledge and correct their mistakes—especially mistakes of prejudice.

When a man prefaces his conversation with "Now I know this isn't any of my business," you may be pretty sure that it isn't.—Cincinnati Saturday Night.

Mexico is a paradise for journalists. When there are no revolutions going on to furnish news, along comes an accommodating earthquake and gives them an item.

A six-year-old was seated in a barber's chair. "Well my little man," said the barber, "how would you like your hair cut?" "O, like papa's, with a little round hole at the top."

A Norristown young man, who went to Atlantic City, last week, says he lost a dollar dinner the first day he was there. He probably dropped it overboard while out sailing.

"My gracious, what's the matter? You look all broken up; been up all night with the boys!" "No, been up all night with a girl." "A girl!" "Yes, a girl about ten months old. She's teething."

Worth, the celebrated man-dressmaker, of Paris, is in very poor health. It is supposed he overtaxed his mental strength in the effort to invent a new style of polonaise for summer.

At First Hand.—Country Connosseur: "Now you are quite sure those are real "chromos?" Country dealer (draper and grocer, &c.,): "Oh, yes, sir—we always has 'em direct from his studio, sir?"

When Tecumseh Sherman kissed a whole row of grown-up girls at a reception at St. Louis, Mark Twain stood off in a corner during the blissful episode and groaned: "Who wouldn't march to the sea?"

Can any one who has tried conscientiously to edit a newspaper be reconciled for a moment to the idea that there is no place of eternal punishment for the thieves who steal their paragraphs?—Toledo American.

A western preacher, whose congregation had begun to fall off somewhat, had it intimated that he would discuss a family scandal the following Sunday. As a consequence the church was crowded. The minister's subject was Adam vs. Eve.

She was a woman of property while her sweetheart was a man with a big head. "Do you love me?" said he. "Indeed, indeed, I do," she modestly murmured. "Well," he replied. "one 'deed' will be sufficient if you put it all in my name."

A little three-year old in town, who observed her grandfather writing a postal card, requested that she might be allowed to write a letter. Upon being being asked if a postal card wouldn't answer her purpose: she replied, "No, sir! I want paper and 'velope; I don't want my letter to go bareheaded like 'urs!"

President Lincoln once listened patiently while a friend read a long manuscript to him, and who then asked, "What do you think of it? How will it take?" The President reflected a little while, and then answered, "Well for people who like that kind of thing I think that is just the kind of a thing they'd like."

A clergyman who was sued for debt replied that if he considered the debt a moral obligation he would pay it, but he looked upon it as a legal obligation only, that he was worth nothing; and the amount, $254, could not be collected. If that clergyman should establish a new sect, he would have many followers, and it would have a phenomenal growth that might throw the old sects quite into the background.

"What do you do for a living?" asked an Austin justice of a huge, burly negro, who had been arrested for vagrancy. "My wife takes in washin', and works out by de day" "I asked you what your trade was?" "I done tole yee. A man and his wife am one, what do we want two trades for? My trade am de washin' my wife takes in." The justice sighed and said: "Poor fellow. You are overworked. You need rest."

Miscellaneous.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH

BITTERS

That terrible scourge fever and ague, and its congener, bilious remittent, besides affections of the stomach, liver and bowels, produced by miasmatic air and water are both eradicated and prevented by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a purely vegetable elixir, indorsed by physicians, and more extensively used as a remedy for the above class of disorders, as well as for many others, than any medicine of the age.

For sale by all Druggists and dealers generally.

$66 a week in your own town, $5 outfit free. No risk: Everything new. Capital not required. We will furnish you everything. Many are making fortunes. Ladies make as much as men, and boys and girls make great pay. Reader, if you want a business at which you can make great pay all the time you work, write for particulars to H. HALLIET & Co., Portland, Maine. jan1 d6m&wly

---

Best business now before the public You can make money faster at work for us than at anything else. Capital not needed. We will start you. $12 a day and upwards made at home by the industrious. Men, women, boys and girls wanted everywhere to work for us. Now is the time. You can work in spare time only or give your whole time to the business. You can live at home and do the work. No other business will pay you nearly as well. No one can fail to make enormous pay by engaging atonce. Costly outfit and terms free. Money made fast, easily and honorably. Address TRUE & Co., Augusta, Me. jald6m&wly

---

INSURANCE.

INSURANCE effected on all kinds of Properties, in Companies of undoubted strength nd security, at standard rates.

INSURE AGAINST LOSS AND DAMAGE BY FIRE AND LIGHTNING.

9 9-1y. GEORGE L. POTTER

Furst's Building.) High street,-Bellefonte

Professional Cards.

S. D. RAY,
Attorney-at-Law,
Bellefonte, Pa.
Special attention given to the collection of claims. Office, south-west corner of Diamond, near Brockerhoff House. 13-2tf

D. H. HASTINGS. W. F. REEDER.
HASTINGS & REEDER,
Attorneys-at-Law,
Bellefonte, Pa. Office on Allegheny street, two doors north of office formerly occupied by the late firm of Yocum & Hastings. 13-40-1y

J. G. LOVE,
Attorney-at-Law,
Bellefonte, Pa.
Office in rooms formerly occupied by the late W. F. Wilson. ja4'7t-tf

A. O. FURST,
Attorney-at-Law,
office in his new building, north side and opposite the Court House. 8 1-tf

YOCUM & HARSHBERGER,
Attorneys-at-Law,
Bellefonte, Pa. Office northeast corner of the Diamond, opposite First National Bank. 40-4w

CLEMENT DALE,
Attorney-at-Law,
office on High Street second door from First National Bank. 8 42-tf

E. BLANCHARD.....E. M. BLANCHARD
E. & E. M. BLANCHARD,
Attorneys-at-Law,
v6 1-1y High Street, Bellefonte, Pa.

C. T. ALEXANDER.....C. M. BOWERS
ALEXANDER & BOWERS,
Attorneys-at-Law,
Bellefonte, Pa. Office in Garman's building, opposite Court House. 6-1—9-32

STITZER & MAGEE,
Attorneys-at-Law
Office next to Garman's hotel. in Reynolds' bank, Bellefonte, Pa. May be consulted in English or German.

D. S. KELLER,
Attorney-at-Law,
Bellefonte, Pa. Office on Allegheny street, first door south of Lyon's new store. 5 17-1y

J. H. MORRISON,
GENERAL INSURANCE AGENT.
BELLEFONTE, PA.
Representing a number of the Best and Safest companies. Horses insured against Theft, death, or accident.
Office in the Conrad House with DAVID W FORTNEY, Esq. v9n14

Physicians and Dentists.

G. M. SWARTZ, Dentist, located at Bellefonte, Pa. Office in the Myers property, on Bishop street, opposite Graham's Shoe Store. 8-23

H. K. HOY, M. D.
Office in Conrad House, above Fortney's Law Office, Bellefonte, Pa. Special attention given to Operative Surgery and Chronic diseases. 13-15-1y

---

Banks and Bankers.

E. C. HUMES, Pres't.....J. P. HARRIS, Cash'r
FIRST NATIONAL BANK of Bellefonte
Allegheny Street, Bellefonte, Pa. v6n1-1y

Shaving Saloons.

WM. MILLS
FASHIONABLE BARBER AND HAIR DRESSER.
Pleasant rooms and experienced workmen, Felty's new building High street, Bellefonte, Pa. aug 17 1m

M. S. GRAHAM,
FASHIONABLE BARBER
In basement of the Conrad House, Bellefonte, Pa. The best of razors, sharp and keen, always on hand. He guarantees a shave without ether pulling or pain. Perfumery, hair oil, hair restoratives, etc., constantly on hand. Warm and Cold Baths 5-1tf

---

Professional Beauties.

The "professional beauty" is no new feature of the London season; and though photography has no doubt done much to give publicity to the charms of the loveliest women in the ranks of fashion, yet in the days of our great-grandfathers and great-grandmothers the reigning belles excited just as much vulgar curiosity and gossip as they do now. Take for example the Gunnings, Maria and Elizabeth, who appeared at the Court of George II., one at the age of eighteen and the other of nineteen, and both without a shilling to their dowry. "They are declared," writes Walpole, "to be the handsomest women alive; they can't walk in the Park or go to Vauxhall but such crowds follow them that they are generally driven away." One day they went to see Hampton Court; as they were going into the Beauty Room another party arrived; the housekeeper, in a state of great excitement, said to the new-comers, "This way, ladies, here are the famous beauties!" The Misses Gunning thereupon flew into a passion, and asked what she meant; they went to see the palace, and not to be shown as a sight themselves.

The youngest of the two sisters became the wife of James, Duke of Hamilton; he fell in love with her at a masquerade, and in a fortnight later met her at an assembly in Lord Chesterfield's new house in Mayfair. His Grace was so enamored of the lovely Elizabeth that he left the faro-table, where he had staked a thousand guineas, and "let the game slide;" whilst he paid devoted court to his enchantress. Two nights later, at half an hour past midnight, they were married by Dr. Keith, with the ring of a bed-curtain, in Mayfair chapel, one of the most hasty and eccentric marriages on record. In less than three weeks Maria Gunning followed her sister's example, and was wedded to Lord Coventry, though not with such indecent haste as in the other case.

The two beauties were even greater curiosities after marriage than before. When the Duchess of Hamilton was presented, the crowd at the drawing-room was so great that even "noble persons" clambered upon chairs and tables to look at her; whilst mobs gathered round the doors of the two "goddesses" to see them get into their sedan-chairs; and such crowds flocked to see the Duchess when she went to her castle that 700 persons sat up all night in a Yorkshire town in order to see her start in her post-chaise the next morning!

Lady Coventry was equally run after; at Worchester a shoemaker made two guineas and a-half by showing, at a penny a head, the shoe which he was making for the Countess. She had, however, little but her beauty to recommend her; it was she who made the singularly maladroit remark to His Majesty that the one sight she longed to see was a coronation. Her husband who was a sensible man in many respects, though somewhat of a bear in manners, objected strongly to her ladyship's excessive use of red paint and white powders and paints; and once at a large dinner-party suspecting that she had been "making herself up," he chased his wife around the table till he caught her, when before all the company, he scrubbed her face with a napkin. When Lady Coventry visited Paris she expected that her beauty would meet with the applause which had followed her and her sister through England; but she was put to flight by another English lady, still more lovely in the eyes of the Parsians. A certain Mrs. Pitt took a box at the opera opposite the Countess, and was so much handsomer than her ladyship that the parterre cried out that this was the real English angel; whereupon Lady Coventry quitted Paris in a huff. Not long afterward she died of consumption, accelerated, it was said, by the red and white paint with which she plastered those luckless charms of hers.

Those Unreliable Newspapers.

"I don't know whether they do it intentionally or not, "said young Jack Kanebiter thoughtfully, "but somehow these newspapers pass around an awful lot of unreliable information."

"How's that?" languidly inquired his running mate, Jim L'Ardida.

"Why, I saw in the Post, last week, that a poor young fellow in St. Louis borrowed an umbrella of a bank President and the next day returned it."

"Rippin' lie, that!"

"Oh, no! he did really," continued Kanebiter; "he walked into the bank the very next day, and returned the umbrella. The President was so much astonished, that he called the young man back and made him his cashier at a big salary."

"Because he was honest, eh?"

"Exactly, so, you see, as I had gotten one of the first editions of the paper, I thought I'd work the same racket before any of the other boys caught on."

"Good scheme."

"So I rushed around to the Nevada Bank, and asked Louis McLean to lend me an umbrella. There was a Directors' meeting going on at the time, so I thought I had 'em sure."

"What did old money bags say?"

"He said, 'Why, it isn't going to rain for a month yet.' 'I know what I'm about,' said I; 'just you lend me an umbrella." So he told a clerk to let me have one, and take ten dollars for security."

"Great Scott!"

"But that aint the worst of it. When I looked at the umbrella, I'll be hanged if it wasn't one that McLean had borrowed from me two years ago."

And then they both lit cigarettes and mused over the unreliability of the press

---

An Illinois campaign paper recently started is called the Picket—probably because it is on the fence.

Medical.

Disease is an effect, not a cause. Its origin is within; its manifestations are without. Hence, to cure the disease the Cause must be removed, and in no other way can a cure be effected. WARNER'S SAFE KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE is established on just principles. It realizes that of all diseases arise from deranged kidneys and liver, and it strikes at once at the root of the difficulty. The elements of which it is composed act directly upon these great organs, both as a food and restorer, and by placing them in a healthy condition, drive disease and pain from the system.

95 Per Cent.

For the innumerable troubles caused by unhealthy Kidneys, Liver and Urinary Organs; for the distressing Disorders of Women; for Malaria, and for physical derangements generally, this great remedy has no equal. Beware of imposters, imitations and connections said to be just as good.

For Diabetes, ask for WARNER'S SAFE DIABETES CURE. For sale by all dealers.

H. H. WARNER & CO.,
Rochester, N. Y.

The Secret

of the universal success of Brown's Iron Bitters is simply this: It is the best Iron preparation ever made; is compounded on thoroughly scientific, chemical and medicinal principles, and does just what is claimed for it—no more and no less.

By thorough and rapid assimilation with the blood, it reaches every part of the system, healing, purifying and strengthening. Commencing at the foundation it builds up and restores lost health—in no other way can lasting benefit be obtained.

79 Dearborn Ave., Chicago, Nov. 7.

I have been a great sufferer from a very weak stomach, heartburn, and dyspepsia in its worst form. Nearly everything I ate gave me distress, and I could eat but little. I have tried everything recommended, have taken the prescriptions of a dozen physicians, but got no relief until I took Brown's Iron Bitters. I feel none of the old troubles, and am a new man. I am getting much stronger, and feel first-rate. I am a railroad engineer, and now make my trips regularly. I can not say too much in praise of your wonderful medicine. D. C. MACK.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not contain whiskey or alcohol, and will not blacken the teeth, or cause headache and constipation. It will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sleeplessness, dizziness, nervous debility, weakness, &c.

Use only Brown's Iron Bitters made by Brown Chemical Co., Baltimore. Crossed red lines and trade-mark on wrapper.

There is no excuse for suffering from

CONSTIPATION

and other diseases that follow a disordered state of the Stomach and Bowels, when the use of

DR. HENRY BAXTER'S

MANDRAKE BITTERS

Will give immediate relief.

After constipation follows

Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Diseases of the Kidneys, Torpid Liver Rheumatism, Dizziness, Sick Headache, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, Apoplexy, Palpitations, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, etc., all of which these Bitters will speedily cure by removing the cause. Keep the Stomach, Bowels, and Digestive Organs in good working order, and perfect health will be the result. Ladies and others subject to Sick Headache will find relief and permanent cure by the use of these Bitters Being tonic and mildly purgative they PURIFY THE BLOOD.

Price 25 cts. per bottle.

For sale by all dealers in medicine. Send address for pamphlet, free, giving full directions.

HENRY, JOHNSON & LORD, Props., Burlington, Vt.

Wilson & McFarlane--Hardware.

HARDWARE,

STOVES.

WILSON, M'FARLANE & CO.

Have for sale in HEATING STOVES,

THE CROWNING GLORY

OF BASE BURNERS.

This Stove is well named. It has a Diving Flue in front, making it a Front Heater.

Immense Radiating Surface.

ALSO,

FORT ORANGE AND EASTLAKE.

We would call your attention to

The Welcome Home Heaters,

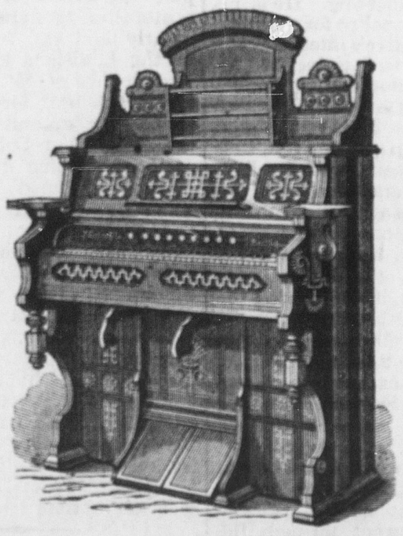
DOUBLE AND SINGLE.

Beautifully finished in Nickel. Our line of COOK STOVES and RANGES is complete.

CALL AND SEE US.

ESTEY ORGANS.

STRICTLY FIRST CLASS.



BEAUTIFUL IN TONE.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST

Over 100,000 in use.

EASY TERMS GIVEN. NO AGENTS EMPLOYED.

Sold by BUNNELL & AIKENS,
BELLEFONTE, PA.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
A perfect restorer & dressing, elegantly perfumed and entirely harmless. Removes dandruff, restores natural color and prevents baldness 50 cents and $1 sizes at druggists

Floreston COLOGNE
A new, delicate & exquisitely fragrant perfume, possessing exceptionally lasting properties. 25 and 75 cents.

Parker's Ginger Tonic

An Invigorating Medicine that Never Intoxicates.

This delicious combination of Ginger, Buchu, Mandrake, Stillingia, and many other of the best vegetable medicines known, cures Female Complaints, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Wakefulness, and all disorders of the bowels, stomach, liver, kidneys, and urinary organs.

If you have lost your appetite and are low spirited, or suffering from age, or any infirmity, take Parker's Ginger Tonic. It will strengthen brain and body and give you new life and vigor.

100 DOLLARS

Paid for anything injurious found in Ginger Tonic, or for a failure to help or cure. Try it or ask your sick friend to try it To-Day.

50c. and $1 sizes at druggists. Large saving buying dollar size. Send for circular to Hiscox & Co., 163 William St., N. Y.

BARTRUFF'S

Is the place to go for

New Carriages, Buggies, Wagons and to have old ones repaired

RAILROAD HOUSE,
Corner Front and Pine Street,
Philipsburg, Centre County, Pa.
ROBERT LOYD, Proprietor.

The best of liquors and cigars constantly on hand. The table is well supplied with the best the market affords 25ly

---

F. P. GREEN,

DRUGGIST,

Bush House Building, Bellefonte. Keeps constantly on hand, or orders on short notice, a full assortment of everything usually kept in a first class drug store. Particular attention given to preparing physician's prescriptions, and family recipes. 6 1 1y

---

Nets! Nets! Nets!

At SCHOFIELD'S,

Spring Street, Bellefonte, Pa.

I have on hand a large stock of Fly Nets, which, as the season is now far advanced, I will sell at a reduction of 25 PER CENT.

Great Bargains. Call Immediately.

14-30tf JAMES SCHOFIELD.

Medical.

Beware OF Fraud

BENSON'S CAPCINE PLASTERS

HAVE BEEN IMITATED

And their excellent reputation injured by worthless imitations. The public are cautioned against buying Plasters having similar sounding names. See that the word C-A-P-C-I-N-E is correctly spelled.

Benson's Capcine

Porous Plasters

Are the only improvement ever made in Plasters.

One is worth more than a dozen of any other kind.

Will positively CURE where other remedies will not even RELIEVE.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Beware of Cheap Plasters made with lead poisons.

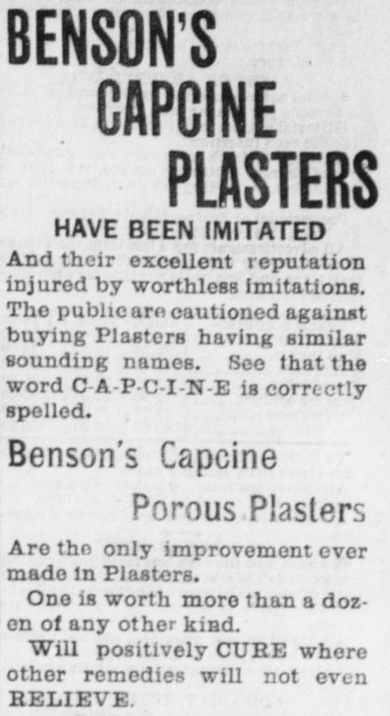
SEABURY & JOHNSON,
Manufact'ing Chemists, New York

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 25 cts. MEAD'S Medical CORN and BUNION PLASTER. feb1 1y

---

A MAN

WHO IS UNACQUAINTED WITH THE GEOGRAPHY OF THIS COUNTRY WILL SEE BY EXAMINING THIS MAP THAT THE



CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC R'Y

By the central position of its line, connects the East and the West by the shortest route, and carries passengers, without change of cars, between Chicago and Kansas City, Council Bluffs, Leavenworth, Atchison, Minneapolis and St. Paul. It connects in Union Depots with all the principal lines of road between the Atlantic and the Pacific Oceans. Its equipment is unrivaled and magnificent, being composed of Most Comfortable and Beautiful Day Coaches, Magnificent Horton Reclining Chair Cars, Pullman's Prettiest Palace Sleeping Cars, and the Best Line of Dining Cars in the World. Three Trains between Chicago and Missouri River Points. Two Trains between Chicago and Minneapolis and St. Paul, via the Famous

"ALBERT LEA ROUTE."

A New and Direct Line, via Seneca and Kankakee, has recently been opened between Richmond, Norfolk, Newport News, Chattanooga, Atlanta, Augusta, Nashville, Louisville, Lexington, Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Lafayette, and Omaha, Minneapolis and St. Paul and intermediate points.

All Through Passengers Travel on Fast Express Trains.

Tickets for sale at all principal Ticket Offices in the United States and Canada.

Baggage checked through and rates of fare always as low as competitors that offer less advantages.

For detailed information, get the Maps and Folders of the

GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE,

At your nearest Ticket Office, or address

R. R. CABLE, Vice-Pres. & Gen'l M'g'r. E. ST. JOHN, Gen'l Ticket & Pass. Agt.

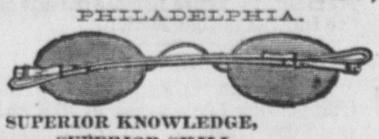
CHICAGO.

QUEEN & CO.

THE GREAT OPTICIANS,

924 CHESTNUT STREET,

PHILADELPHIA.



SUPERIOR KNOWLEDGE, SUPERIOR SKILL, SUPERIOR LENSES and SUPERIOR FACILITIES

For manufacturing, all combine to give our SPECTACLES and EYE-GLASSES a national reputation.

LOST SIGHT NEVER RETURNS.

Do not trifle with your eyes by tasing UNSUITABLE GLASSES.

Catalogues as follows sent on application:—Part 1—Mathematical Instruments, 162 pages. Part 2—Optical Instruments, 186 pages. Part 3—Magic Lanterns, 112 pages. Part 4—Philosophical Instruments, 160 pages.

14-33-1y

A Great Cause of Human Misery

Is the Loss of

MANHOOD

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to Marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Address,

THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO.,
41 Ann Street, New York, N. Y.
Post Office Box, 450. 14 4 1y

Bellefonte Republican.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

EDWARD T. TUTEN.

The BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN is published every Wednesday at Bellefonte, Centre county Pennsylvania,

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One year, in advance.....$2 00
If not paid for within 6 months..... 2 50
If not paid for until expiration of year..... 3 00

No paper will be discontinued until arrearages are paid, except at the option of the publisher.

Papers sent out of the county must be paid for in advance.

RATES OF ADVERTISING:

Special notices inserted in our local columns at 20 cents per line for each insertion.

Editorial notices in our columns, 25 cents per line for each insertion.

Marriage or death announcements published free of charge. Obituary notices, ten lines in length, free; exceeding ten lines, five cents per line.

Professional or Business Cards, not exceeding five lines, this type, $8.00 per annum.

All advertisements for a less term than three months, twenty cents per line for the first three insertions, and five cents per line for each additional insertion.

SPACE OCCUPIED.	3 mos.	6 mos.	1 year.
1 inch (12 lin' this tp'e)	$ 5 00	$ 8 00	$ 12 00
Two inches	7 00	10 00	15 00
Three inches	10 00	15 00	20 00
Four inches	11 00	17 00	25 00
Quarter column	12 00	20 00	30 00
Half column	20 00	35 00	55 00
One column	35 00	55 00	125 00

To insure insertion, advertisements MUST be in no later than Monday noon.

All advertisements, whether displayed or blank lines, measured by lines of this type.

All advertisements due after the first insertion.

JOB DEPARTMENT.

We have now the very best facilities for doing first-class Job Work, and solicit the patronage of all friends of the paper, together with all others who desire to obtain good work at fair prices.

We have the best workmen, the best presses and the best type to be found anywhere.

Address all communications, relating to business, to

EDWARD T. TUTEN, Proprietor,
Bellefonte, Pa.

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Indian Outrages.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 30.—A Calabass dispatch says: A band of unknown Apaches raided the valley early last evening and it is reported that they have killed quite a number of men, women and children, amounting to twenty in all. They have taken all the ranches from Calabass to the line and the people are coming into Calabass for safety. Jus' band have crossed the line into Arizona, and it is believed that it was he who raided the settlements.

A Tombstone dispatch of the Courier from Santa Cruz gives an account of the killing of persons by the Indians and a general raid by hostiles in the valley. The company of cavalry sent from the post to investigate, the report that the Apaches attacked a party of American miners twenty-five miles south of the frontier, at Sonora, on Tuesday of last week. One man, named George Riefenthel, was killed, and Payson Barnes was wounded. The others entrenched themselves behind a wagon and stood off the savages for several hours. The hostiles retired at night. The miners retired to the frontier. Colonel Fores and forty Mexican troops are pursuing the savages.

TUCSON, Arizona, Sept. 1.—The Star advices from Tubac, Arizona territory, last evening say the following are the facts in regard to the Indian troubles in that section. A band supposed to be Juhu's numbering about two hundred, has been operating in Sonora for about two months, and about the last of the week met the Mexican troops at San Antino Pass and whipped them. They then encamped near our line and divided up into three or four bands, each taking different directions. One band struck the Upper Santa Cruz and crossed the Patagonias to the Santa Cruz road. Here they are said to have killed three prospectors. They then crossed the San Juan mountains and struck the Magdalena road, about three miles above the custom house at Fronteras, and when last seen they were making for the Ponchos de Plata. Tombstone advices state that William Johnston, a cattle man near the head of Sonora river, was killed by the Apaches in Sonora, near the custom house, on the line. Four Americans and one Mexican were killed last Sunday near Bacunchi. Mexican troops are in close pursuit of the Indians in that section.

Dick Little on Trial.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Sept. 1.—The trial of Dick Little began at 10 a. m. yesterday before Commissioners Bond and McCullough. The first witness called was Mrs. Jesse James, who was examined at length. It was developed in the first part of the testimony that Frank and Jesse James were with their families in November, 1880, until the latter part of March, 1881. Her statements were not at all damaging to the prisoner as the perpetrator of the Muscle Shoals robbery. Mrs. James exploded the story that has been going the rounds of the press about her returning the watch to Mr. Davy in Philadelphia. She indignantly denied doing so, and claimed that Little stole the watch and returned it in her name. Mr. Alexander G. Smith, the man who was robbed, was next examined and gave his story of the robbery. Other witnesses were examined, but nothing important was brought out. Six other witnesses are to be examined.

Wins at Last.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS, N. Y., September 1.—The single scull race between Courtney and Lee, came off this afternoon and was won by Courtney in the unprecedented time of nineteen minutes, thirty-one and a-half and one-fourth seconds by a length and a-half. Lee nineteen minutes, thirty-five and a-half seconds. The water was as smooth as glass.

Events in Egypt.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—General Wolseley telegraphs from the cavalry headquarters, Matsamet Camp, Tuesday, that only the Household Cavalry and the Seventh Dragoon Guards were seriously engaged in the fight at Kassassin Lock. The former had three troopers killed and eight wounded. Major Townshend received a severe saber cut. The guards had two troopers wounded.

A Greek iron-clad has left Volo in consequence of a collision between the Turks and Greeks.

ISMAILIA, Aug. 30.—It is believed that Arabi Pasha brought up his infantry by train from Kafr-el-Dwar for the attack on the British at Kassassin Lock. The British artillery fire was most effective and prevented the enemy from advancing in close order, as they apparently first intended. The loose formation of the enemy gave an opportunity to the cavalry. The Life Guard caused fearful havoc among the scattered fugitives. A train of wounded British is now on its way to Ismailia.

The British have now established a line of communication with Tel-el-Kebir. A railway along the route is nearly completed, and several trains have already been sent forward.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 30.—General Hamley, with the brigade of Highlanders from Ramleh, is now embarking here.

General Wolseley and the entire army are marching to the front.

Arabi Pasha is strongly fortifying his position at Damanhour. All was quiet at Cairo up to the 26th.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—An important order was received at Woolwich today to forward to Egypt at once a formidable light siege train. It will weigh, with the equipments, 2,000 tons, and will require 1,137 officers and men. The ordnance will consist of thirty-six pieces of artillery of various calibres, including ten 40-pounders and ten 25-pounders.

PORT SAID, Sept. 1.—The transport from Alexandria with the Highland brigade on board have arrived here and proceeded down the canal.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 1.—Forty seamen from the ironclad Minatour and a company of the Thirty-third regiment quietly approached the enemy's position opposite Ramleh last evening and succeeded in blowing up with gun-cotton, a house on the canal which has long been a point of vantage to the enemy's sharpshooters The operation was not interrupted by the Egyptians.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—A dispatch from Kassassin yesterday to the Daily Telegraph says. During a reconnoissance by the cavalry yesterday a fresh entrenched camp was discovered ten miles from here.

News has been received at Cairo that at a meeting of notables on August 29, at which the governor of Ismailia was present. Speeches were made recognizing Arabi Pasha as sole ruler of Egypt. The prefect of police, on hearing this declared against Arabi Pasha and ordered the arrest of persons at the meeting. He is organizing Turkish police for the protection of the khedive's interests. The governor of El Arish has declared for Arabi, and has influenced two tribes of Bedouins in his favor.

PORT SAID, Sept. 3.—Arabi Pasha is forming a camp at Salihiveh, thus threatening the canal and the British flanks. General Wolseley has taken precautions against any movement in that direction. The troop ships Orontes and Malabar and the steamer Osmali, the latter with mules and forage, have entered the canal. The health of the troops and sailors is excellent.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—A number of veterinary surgeons have been sent to Italy, Spain, Smyrna and New York to inspect mules purchased for use in Egypt.

A despatch to the Times from Kassassin says: A wounded Arab officer states that hardly had the British cavalry swept through the Arab ranks in the fight here recently, when a horde of Bedouins poured in and began to strip and rob the dead and wounded of both sides, killing any of the wounded who were unable to resist. Colonel Tulloch is trying to win the confidence of the peasants, one of whom has brought in over one hundred sheep and sold them to the army. Many o the prisoners are simple farmers. Several of them have been released and invited to come in with vegetables and establish a regular market.

A dispatch to Reuter's telegram company from Constantinople says: The porte has been informed that thirty thousand horsemen from the interior of Tripoli are proceeding to Egypt and has ordered the Turkish authorities to intercept the men on their passage.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—A dispatch from Ismailia states that it is reported on good authority that the commander at Tel-el-Kebir is inclined to abandon the cause of Arabi Pasha.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 2.—The steamers Persian Monarch and Tyne have sailed for Egypt with about one thousand men.

English Sporting Men.

NEW YORK, September 3.—Charles Rowell, the pedestrian, arrived here from England to-day. He will at once begin training. The British team of riflemen who are to compete with our national guardsmen at Creedmore on the 14th and 15th of this month, arrived here to-day and proceeded to Garden City, quite near the Creedmore range.

Confesses to the Deed.

RICHMOND Va., August 30—Emmet Cloud, the negro who was tried last spring for the murder of John Murrel and Thomas Glover, and who was in jail waiting a second trial in November next, has made a full confession of the crime. He is dying with consumption and is not expected to live until November.

Dublin's Danger.

LONDON, September 3.—A dispatch dated Dublin, Sunday afternoon, says: "The police strike is virtually ended. The superintendent in an interview with the dismissed men, advised them to draw up a memorial asking that they be reinstated, and acknowledging that they committed a breach of discipline. This memorial will be submitted to the authorities this evening and there is little doubt that the men will be reinstated with the understanding that their grievances will be investigated.

DUBLIN, September 3.—About fourteen persons who were wounded in the street fights here are in the hospital. Five hundred special constables were sworn in to-day. The mob to-day attacked a special constable. The lattar fired three shots and wounded a man dangerously. The mob thereupon attempted to lynch the constable and handled him so roughly that he is not expected to recover. To-night the mob became very violent and was charged on by the troops. Several persons were wounded .The government officers are in the charge of the troops.

DUBLIN, September 3.—In George street to-night a train car in which a special constable had taken refuge was wrecked by the mob. The authorities will advertise to-morrow for recruits. This action is believed to indicate that the dismissed policemen will not be reinstated. At 11 o'clock to-night the streets were much quieter.

Awaited with Interest.

PITTSBURGH, September 3.—The action of the district meeting of the Amalgamated association to-morrow is awaited with interest by all parties. A prominent member said to-night that a caucus of a large number of lodges had been held to-day, and that it had been decided to propose in the district meeting to compromise with the manufacturers by withdrawing all demands and offering to go to work, provided $5.75, per ton is given for puddling and the scale is signed. Last year's scale was $5.50, and the strike has been for $6.00. "In case the manufacturers refuse to accept these terms," the members continued, "we will continue the strike indefinitely. A careful canvass has been made, and we find that if we refuse to go to work, only 450 members from 11 different lodges will secede, and that will not be enough to injure us." The manufacturers who had intended starting with non-onion men tomorrow have concluded to hold off and see what will be done at tomorrow's meeting.

A Washington Sensation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—A sensation was created here yesterday by the publication, in a New York paper, that Frank Howe, son of the postmaster general, was the regularly paid and retained attorney for the Louisiana lottery company. The absence of Mr. Howe from the city, on a tour for recreation, prevented any statement from him in the matter, but Solicitor Freeman, of the postoffice department, emphatically denied the story. He stated that the only attorney known to him on behalf of the lottery company was Senator Sherman's brother-in-law, Colonel Charles Moulton, of Cincinnati. There was nothing for an attorney to attend to at present before the department, as there is practically no order pending against the company, which is on the same footing now as it was under the last administration. The lottery cases were argued before Judge Freeman last year, and he is probably the best posted official of the government on matters relating to them.

Killed.

MAHONY CITY, Sept. 3.—A horrible accident occurred at the Lehigh colliery, New Boston, by which John Cahill, the pumping engineer, was instantly killed. He went out to the fan, which is located about seventy yards from the breaker, for the purpose of making some repairs. He found that one of the blades of the fan struck the side of the casting and entered the pit of the casing to see how the trouble could be remedied. While examining the spot one of the blades of the fan, which was revolving at high speed saught his clothing and dragged him down, grinding him almost to pieces. He was 35 years of age. He leaves a wife and five children.

Deserves to be Lynched.

ALBANY N. Y., August 30.—The town of Glen, Montgomery county, is greatly stirred by the discovery of the diabolical acts of John Palmer, a school teacher, who attempted to violate the persons of two girls, each 12 years old, daughters of John Putnam and Isaac Talmadge. Palmer has fled. For a long time he has been maltreating his older female pupils. He is married and has taught school in Glen for twelve years. He always professed to be very religious, and had the confidence of the community.

Resuming Work.

PITTSBURG, September 1.—The two mills shut down of the window glass factories on the south side ended to-day and work was resumed in nearly all of them. Phillips & Co.'s and D. O. Cunningham's are the only factories that started up with non-union miners, teasers and fillers. The status of the strike of the crimping boys employed in the chimney factories is unchanged. The boys with the exception of those employed at Woods' Fourteenth street factory are still out for an advance of from forty-five to fifty cents per turn.

A Bold Murderer.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, August 30.—The village of Washington, Ind., nine miles from Richmond was the scene of a startling tragedy last night. While Dr. Thomas Ganse was sitting in front of his office talking with a Mr. Baker, Arthur Brooks came up and with an oath began firing at the doctor. He fired five times and four of the balls struck his victim, the last one inflicting a mortal wound from which death soon followed. Crooks then went home, changed his clothes and walked away, passing Dr. Ganse's office and has not yet been found. The motive for the murder is said to have been a suspicion that the doctor told Mrs. Brooks of Brooks' intimacy with another woman.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

Philipsburg Pyrotechnics.

PHILIPSBURG, Aug. 30, 1882.

Hot weather.

A maximum number of flies. Likewise a maximum amount of business on our branch railroad. Trains are run day and night, Sunday and weekday.

T. Pearson, of this place, who was before last April term of court as a vender of liquors without license, was returned a few days ago for a like offense, and will sooner or later, it is to be presumed, appear at Bellefonte to explain things to Judge Orvis.

L. G. Kessler, merchant, is extending his mercantile and domiciliary apartments, including an enlarged roof to the old establishment, till the original building will remind one of the Irishman's boots that had been footed three times and legged twice, and they were still the same old boots.

C. G. Hirlinger is building a fine brick dwelling on the corner of Laurel and North Second streets.

Austin Kerrin, a former justice of the peace at Osceola, will be a candidate before the Democracy of Clearfield county for the nomination of senator. The 'Squire is a man whom nature has done much for, and since Satan decrees that this senatorial district must be represented at Harrisburg by a Democrat, let us have Mr. Kerrin.

On the verdurous banks of the roaring Moshannon, where the willows spread and the roses bloom, but not sufficiently into Rush township to prevent the owner from somehow or other voting the Democratic ticket each successive year in our borough, there stands the stately domicile of an American subject. Not exactly "deep in murky cave's recess," but silent and gloomy, amidst the spreading foliage of the alder and the sambucus, this particular edifice in question, in its architectural presentment may be classed as gothic, and its exterior is beautified by many columns, corinthian and doric. In fact, it is the very retired and quiet abode of an American subject, as before hinted at, which, in last week's issue of our Philipsburg Journal, calls forth the criticisms of some one who is known to the world by the mysterious cognomen of "Citizen." Now the liberty of lawful, free speech no one will deny to a "gentleman and a citizen," but this communicative "citizen" in question is most certainly raising an uncalled-for disturbance. He has excited our people, and they are rushing around like wild to "take this matter in hand and put a stop to it.' More than that, this correspondent of the Journal, by broad and high sounding insinuations, would commit a most gross and damnable libel upon the fair fame of a sturdy neighbor. Could it be that one who lost a digit in the front ranks of those who fought to drive back our country's foe would permit his gothic domicile to be the resort of "professionals and the lowest class of society?" Could it be that an American subject, who in the years of his youth and beauty went down the Susquehanna time and time again, would tolerate upon his premises either fish mongers or "the most elite of this place?" Never! never! All these base insinuations of this "gentleman and a citizen" are wrong, grossly wrong. This citizen's eye was certainly bleared, for the "professionals" and "most elite of this place" and boys and fishmongers and garbage venders whom he seems to have seen going somewhere were, it is evident, merely calling upon a neighbor, who, in the solitude of his cottege has not so much as the juice of the sambucus to corrupt the morals of his friends. Mr. "Citizen," it is to be supposed, failed to draw a straight flush or win the hand he held and now for revenge would be known as an iconoclast, but it won't do. However, our people are aroused concerning the subject, and are determined to "take the matter in hand and put a stop to it."

CATO.

—A son of Mr. Jerome Boyer, of Julian, climbed a willow tree near Chandler's hotel Friday morning and by an unlucky accident fell from it to the ground, injuring himself severely.

—What, do you think Sechler will sell you groceries for nothing and give you a drink?

THE WONDER OF WONDERS.

The Story of Miss Sue F. Campbell's Marvelous Restoration to Health Told in Her own Words.

The following thrillingly interesting communication will explain itself:

MR. EDITOR.—The recent recovery of Miss Campbell from an affection of the spine, after suffering for more than twenty years, a report of which appeared in your paper a few weeks since, is a matter of grateful surprise to her many friends. And when she affirms that her recovery is simply God's answer to the prayer of faith, it is truly wonderful.

Believing that an authorized statement of the facts in the case would be of interest to all who have read the original report, I requested Miss C. to give me such a statement over her own signature for publication. Her reply I herewith enclose. I only add that my acquaintance with Miss Campbell covers a period of twelve years. During that time, until recently, she has been an invalid and a great sufferer. But now, she declares herself well, and as far as her friends can judge is well. That her recovery is one of God's gracious answers to prayer I have not the slightest doubt.

J. C. KELLY.

STATEMENT.

PENN'A FURNACE, Aug. 30, 1882.

I was an invalid over twenty years; first part confined to bed, the latter able to move about some, supported by brace and crutches. While at times my whole body seemed diseased, the main difficulty was spinal, and I suffered from the train of evils consequent upon exhaustion of nervous centres. More than one dozen physicians treated or advised. Twice in Philadelphia and once in New York, I was treated for months, but each time returned as I went, on my back, though gentlemen of renown studied the case with a solicitude and sympathy for which I was most grateful.

Within the last six years friends in different places and at different times referred me to cures through prayer and urged my coming direct to the Great Physician, claiming the proverb of James 5:15.

A suggestion so foreign to my own and my father's faith was always received with surprise and lightly dismissed.

The summer and autumn of '81, I was very much weaker and suffered more than for years previous. Just then faith cures were again presented and in a way that made me say to our family, 'God is calling me to study this subject.' Procuring Miss Judd's book, "The Prayer of Faith," I studied it weeks with the constant prayer, "Grant the Spirit to guide me into all truth, to keep me on the one hand from the vices of education, on the other from following a fellow being further than she follows Christ." Having finished the book I could not doubt its facts, was deeply impressed, but not convinced. Unsettled and uncomforted, I then took Miss Judd's Scripture references and closing my mind to her views kept asking, "Father, show thy child just what is here taught, make me willing to accept, and act act accordingly." Aided by a concordance I found and examined many other portions of Scripture bearing on the subject. After weeks of study just little by little each day the privilege of receiving direct from the Great Physician relief from physical ills seemed to stand out so clearly from Genesis to Revelation that I wondered at my life-long blindness. Knowing that Miss Judd and others of like faith held each Thursday a prayer meeting, I asked their prayers for my restoration through faith. My mind being fully decided before making this request, and having cast my diseased body on Christ, I calmly awaited Miss Judd's reply. It reached me the day following their special prayer for me. The Scripture conditions, being now so far as possible fully complied with, I had nothing to do but trust.

In the full assurance of God fulfilling his promise and without the least excitement, I emptied the medicine bottles which had seemed so necessary to my comfort, took off my brace, and laid aside my crutches. This required more strength than I had known for a long time. A sweet peace filled me as I believed God in His own way and time, would give health. From that day I have used no means. In about two weeks, with lightness and buoyancy, I walked around the farm buildings, gazing on objects unseen for twenty years. Though the spring months were so exceptionally chilly, I steadily gained strength, and since the opening of summer have been regularly to church, which is five miles from my home. Within a week or two from the time I began to improve, the miserable feeling inseperable from invalids bade me good-bye and has scarcely visited me since—and all in answer to prayer.

Was it a long rest that cured me? Those who know me can testify that the occupations of my invalid life were a constant drain on strength. "Change of air and diet," say some. But I neither made a visit nor took a drive for three months after improvement began. And now I would affectionately ask every child of God to prayerfully study the subject of physical healing through faith, but not to accept it unless fully satisfied that it agrees with the "law and testimony." I must commend Miss Judd's book, "The Prayer of Faith," which can be had by mail for 25 cents, by addressing her at 160 Connecticut St., Buffalo, N. Y.

With the hope that the friends and strangers who have so kindly written me for particulars, will take this for an answer, I subscribe myself,

SUE F. CAMPBELL.

Rock Spring, Centre Co., Pa.,
Aug. 21, 1882.

Bellefonte Academy.

The schools in the Academy building will begin on Monday, Sept. 4th. Mrs. W. W. Robinson, who has been recruiting her health during the past year, will resume the charge of the Young Ladies' Department. Mrs. E. M. Roberts will continue her successful work in the Primary School. Mr. J. W. Miller, who is favorably known as a Christian worker among the boys and young men of Bellefonte, will assist in the male department. He ranked high as a student in Latin, Germam and the Sciences, and has proved himself a successful teacher. The school for writing, which is already organized, is under the direction of Mr. S. T. Stephenson, who comes to us highly recommended as a Christian gentleman, a man of sterling worth and an accomplished and successful instructor.

The Principal will take the charge of the Greek in addition to the English Grammar and Mathematical departments. Four young gentlemen or young lady boarders can be accommodated at the academy on reasonable terms.

Pupils are requested to be punctual in their attendance at the opening of the session, when the classes are formed that they may receive the full benefit of the course.

J. P. HUGHES.

—Of all the summer resorts which this country can produce we always considered Newport the most aristocratic. It seemed to be a place where people of proud birth, large fortune and cultivated intellect met to while away the time in a congenial manner. Saratoga is solid, substantial and grand; Long Branch "lively," gay and shoddy, while all the others copy after these two. But Newport boasted of that exclusiveness that is shown in extreme and elegant simplicity. Therefore we hear with some degree of surprise that the loveliest, most courted girl at that resort is a Boston hair dresser! She is a light-skinned brunette, with big, melting black eyes, abundant, jetty hair, regular features, a tall, shapely, well carried figure and perfectly lady-like manners. But that just suits our American ideas of things and is as pleasing to hear as that Sechler & Co. continue to invite customers to their store in the Bush House block, offering the choicest groceries for the money to be obtained in Centre county. Just think of the fine groceries he has for sale! Sugar, coffee, tea, spices, flour, canned fruits and everything in immense quantity and splendid quality.

—The puplic schools of the borough will be opened this week as follows: On Wednesday September 6th, the six "up stairs" schools; on Thursday September 7th, the four "down stairs" schools. The patrons of the schools are requested to have their children there promptly on the opening days in order that there may be no delay in making promotions, arranging classes and getting the school well started.

D. M. LIEB, Principal.

—The warm weather experienced of late renders a cold bath to cool the body and one of Harry Green's cigars to comfort the mind the greatest solaces in existence.

—Prof. A. D. Lane, of Buffalo, the possessor of a powerful basso voice, is in town and will organize a class in vocal music. He is an excellent instructor, having had extensive experience. He and his sister have filled prominent places in some of the best church choirs in this country. More particulars hereafter.

The Fruits of Merit.

DR. HARTMAN & CO.—Please send me a lot of your books on the "Ills of Life." I sell a great deal of your Peruna and Manalin. They are very highly spoken of in this part of the country. F. H. BUSSMAN, P. M.,
Westford, Pa.

Dear Sir: I have taken half a dozen bottles of your Peruna and find it does me great good. Yours truly,

JAMES WYATT, Steubenville, O.

RAILROAD WISDOM.

A Gentleman goes to sell Beef and Gleans Valuable Information.

A gentleman of an inquiring turn of mind recently visited the new railroad now in progress at Beech Creek and contributes his fund of information respecting that much-talked-of topic as follows:

Your correspondent being a descendant of the isle from which St. Patrick banished the snakes and hearing of a railroad being built on Beech Creek natural instincts caused him to gravitate in that direction. Our nearest route was by the road that ascends the Allegheny moutain by the way of the "Wild Irishman's" in Curtin township, which we found to be like the "Rocky road to Dublin." Here they are at present grading a new road which, when completed, will add much to the convenience of the traveling public. At the summit the road forks—the one branching off to the left and extending all the way to Cato, some eight miles; the other extending to "Coal Hill," Hog Back (oh, euphoneous name!) and on to Beech Creek; thence up Eddy Run and over the dividing ridge to Keating on the Susquehanna river. At the summit the lover of romantic scenery can find a feast for his eyes. On either side and in front the mountains with their dark ravines and stately peaks loom up in majestic gradeur. My pen can not do it justice, so I will leave it and travel toward the railroad.

About a mile from the summit we came on a lone settler—"Dave McCloskey"—or, as he is known in the settlement, the "tar peddler."

His house is not the grandest,
Although it keeps out the cold;
His wife and children love him,
And that's as good as gold.

The next place I note is Coal Hill, on which Professor Isaac A. Harvey, of Lock Haven, opened a five-foot vein last March. This brings us into the coal belt, as coal has been found in abundance on both sides of Beech Creek. After descending a steep hill we stand on the bank of Beech Creek. On the other side immediately in front of us is Hog Back. Surely we are now near the scene of operations! Wading the creek to the other side we find in the sand foot-prints of a human being. Wending our way along the bank of the creek about three-fourths of a mile we came upon the pioneer corps clearing the road bed, six feet wide, using brush, scythes, axes, cant hooks, pick spikes, etc. One-half mile further down is Heverley's camp. This is now the Hungarian's shanty. A woman in the door saw us coming, and, not being prepared to receive company, commenced fixing up. When we came to the door she was cleaning the table off with a broom. It is always pertinent to ask for a drink of water and we brought this to our rescue. Only one man present could understand English. The woman wore a handkerchief on her head, a cape shawl and a short dress. The attire of both men and women is very scanty, the former being satisfied with a covering for the lower limbs consisting of only yard-wide muslin, sewed in a straight seam and drawn tight around the waist with strings, supplemented above by a shirt. The muslin garments can be made without scissors by merely tearing the muslin the proper length.

A short distance below the shanty we came to the first grading party. It consisted of a Hungarian squad, the "boss" giving directions by signs. The next squad were Swedes, then Irish, and so on. Six cuts are already open and horses and carts are busy. They have done a large amount of work for the time engaged. The boss stands on an eminence and sees that each man "keeps up his end of the double tree." Five large and very fair shanties have been built; also stables and blacksmith shops. Carpenters are busy erecting more. The equipment of tools and horses—there being about fifty of the latter—seems to be completed. The contractors are Messrs. Miller and Morrison, men of experience and ability. I had the pleasure of an interview with Mr. Miller. He is a man of fine, commanding appearance and is a fluent talker. Having heard of parties becoming millionaires on the proceeds of beef contracts made during the war, and thinking that at least a few hundreds might be realized by supplying this army of railroaders with that necessary article, I asked Mr. Miller if they would buy some beef. Then followed this conversation:

Miller. Yes, there have been several parties wanting to furnish them with beef; they will buy only from the man who sells the cheapest.

Inquirer. Are you not Mr. Miller, one of the contractors?

Miller. My name is Miller and I am superintending the building of this road.

Inquirer. Who are you superintending for?

Miller I don't know.

Inquirer. You expect to receive pay for your labor; whom do you look to for pay?

Miller. I don't know.

Inquirer. You are working in hope of a reward and are sure that you will secure it.

Miller. I am sure of nothing. When I get my dinner I am not sure of supper. There is nothing sure.

Inquirer. I see by the Lock Haven Journal that a reporter interviewed you and you said you had nothing to make public, but that the movement would benefit Lock Haven and Clinton county.

Miller. It wasn't me; that is more than I know; I know nothing.

Inquirer. It is the opinion of many that this is a feint movement and will not result in the completion of the road.

Miller. If it is a feint you will observe that it is a very expensive one. No sir; it is no feint. We are here to build this road and will build it.

In fact, everything looks as if the parties meant business. Most of the men and tools are from Morrison's job in Elk county. There is a mystery connected with the movement that cannot be satisfactorily solved. It is impossible to get any information from the "Big Bosses." Guards are along the right of way night and day. A sharp lookout is being kept on the enemy, which is supposed to be the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The name of the present charter is Pennsylvania and Western, and it is a link of the many charters connecting New York and Chicago by a route at least one hundred miles shorter than any heretofore made. It also opens up the undeveloped coal fields of Centre, Clearfield and Clinton counties. In my opinion if the engineers had examined the Marsh Creek route they might have discovered the possibility of ascending the Allegheny mountains, without deep cuts, big fills or tunnels, over a comparatively straight route with a grade of about 50 feet to the mile, reaching Rock Run and going directly through the great coal belt, at several hundred thousand dollars less expense, and if the enemy—the Pennsylvania—adopts this last mentioned route I shall claim a premium for this suggestion.

MANDRAKE.

—The most frightful floods of which we have read this year are those that occurred in North-western Texas, where six inches of rain fell in a few minutes. It is estimated that 25,000 sheep besides cattle, horses and mules, and sixty or seventy-five persons were swept away. We don't believe that it would be possible for any amount of rain to drown 25,000 sheep in this county; in fact, we don't believe there are anything like that number of sheep in the county; dogs are preferred by the farmers, and they are far more destructive than water to the lives of sheep. However, those who want lamb, ram, sheep or mutton to eat can purchase all they desire at Sechler's store, in the Bush House block. He keeps a large and well supplied meat market, which is a great convenience to persons who patronize his grocery, as they can make all their purchases in one vast store, divided into two departments, each of which excels anything of the same kind in Bellefonte.

—The new building erected by P. B. Crider & Son, for a saw mill, is located about a mile and a half from their old mill and not far from Glenn Harris. It at once attracts attention and admiration for its many points of excellence which suggest strength, durability and convenience. The contractor was H. C. Holter, of Howard, an excellent carpenter. As master mechanic he always employs the most skilled workmen, and while he performs the work in a satisfactory manner he accomplishes it in the time for which he contracts. For example the mill of Crider & Son consumed only three weeks in its erection, which will greatly surprise those who inspect the building.

—It is but the truth to say that the store of Sechler & Co. contains a better supply of groceries than any other store in this vicinity.

—Phosphate may be excellent when applied to the soil and we have no doubt that it is. But it is quite different when applied to the nose, and we do not believe that it was ever intended for a perfume. The odor has recently been filling our olfactory nerves and producing sensations near akin to those caused by a week's ride on a tempestuous ocean. Now, if you don't want us to do something desperate, send that phosphate to its destination as soon as possible.

—Harry Teats & Co. have opened a new grocery, but the senior member of the firm is an old and experienced grocery man.

—He that giveth to the tramp lendeth to the saloonist.

"I'm a poor strolling player," groaned a seedy-looking fellow to a gentleman on a country road, "and do not ask for money, but only for some left-off-clothes." "My good man," rejoined the latter, "I'm sorry I can't assist you. Times are now so bad that I wear my left-off-clothes myself."

Nervousness.

The moment there is danger of impairment of the mind from excessive nervous exhaustion, or where there exists forbodings of evil, a desire for solitude, shunning and avoiding company, vertigo and nervous debility, or when insanity has already taken place, Peruna and Manalin should be implicitly relied on. But it is never well to wait so long before treatment is commenced. The early symptoms are loss of strength, softness of the muscles, dim or weak sight peculiar expression of the face and eyes, coated tongue, with impaired digestion; or in others, certain powers only are lost, while they are otherwise enjoying comparatively good health. In all these Peruna and Manalin should at once be taken.

—Harry Teats & Co. have already earned the reputation of keeping the finest stock of groceries ever brought to this place.

The Egyptian war will give about a hundred paragraphers the opportunity to say that the Bedouins are no great Sheiks, and that no matter how they are treated, they will always Be-do-in something atrocious and inexcusable. War is, indeed, a great evil.

—Clover and timothy seed bought and sold by Isaac Guggenheimer, Agent, High street, Bellefonte, Pa.

A silk company has started a manufactory at Aberdeen, Miss., the manager saying that the climate is even better than that of Japan. This is the only good thing that has been said about Mississippi in 500 years, and maybe it isn't true.

—The business transacted by the firm of Harry Teats & Co. is steadily increasing in proportions.

Courtesies at an introduction. First gentleman—"Madame, permit me to introduce my friend, Mr. P. He is not nearly so much of a fool as he looks." Second gentlemen—"That is where my friend differs from me, Madame."

Cash paid for hides of all kinds.
ISAAC GUGGENHEIMER, Agent.

—Nothing more perfect can be desired in a grocery store than that of Harry Teats & Co.

We see that a young man in New Jersey shot himself because a young lady "rejected his suit." If his suit was anything like that worn by Oscar Wilde, she evinced decidedly good taste in rejecting it. She deserves to have a sensible husband.

—Visitors in town last Friday to the printers' picnic pronounced Harry Green's cigars better than any others sold in Bellefonte.

Special inducements for orders for fall and winter clothing during the summer months.
27tf MONTGOMERY & Co.

Physicians say it combines all the desiderata of every ferruginous tonic prescribed by every school of medicine. Brown's Iron Bitters.

Don't condemn a good thing because you have been deceived by worthless nostrums. Parker's Ginger Tonic has cured many in this section of kidney and nervous disorders, and we commend it heartily to such sufferers.—Freeport News.

I would respectfully call the attention of my old customers and the trade in general to the fact that I have this day (August 17) opened at my former rooms in the Bush Arcade, a complete stock of Trunks and Valises which will be sold at low figures.
ISAAC GUGGENHEIMER, Agent.

PE-RU-NA

Is a new remedy, originally compounded and introduced to the medical profession, and then to the public at large, by S. B. Hartman, M. D. He has prescribed it to over 40,000 patients with the most gratifying results. [redacted]

Its effect upon the system is entirely unlike that of any other remedy, and is the only medicine needed in almost every disease to which flesh is heir. (In Constipation, Diseases of the Liver and Kidneys, MANALIN should be given with it. [redacted]

PERUNA is composed of purely vegetable ingredients, each one, according to medical authors, a great remedy in itself. [redacted]

Dr. Hartman has succeeded in extracting and combining the active principles of these ingredients into one simple compound, which perfectly coincides with the VIS MEDICATRIX NATURA in every disease, and a cure necessarily follows. There is not an organ it will not reach nor a disease it will not cure. [redacted]

Ask your druggist for Dr. Hartman's pamphlet on the "Ills of Life," Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co., Osborn, O., proprietors. For Piles and Pelvic Diseases, take

MAN-A-LIN

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Single Bottle $1.00; Six Bottles, $5.00.

NOTICE.—By virtue and authority of the powers and duties in me vested by the 11th section of Act of Assembly of the 24th of May, 1871, all fish baskets, eel-wires, kiddles, brush or fascine nets, or any other permanently set means of taking fish in the nature of a seine, which are known to be wasteful and extravagant modes of fishing, existing in any of the streams within Centre county, are hereby declared common nuisances and are ordered to be dismantled by their owners or managers, so as to render them no longer capable of taking or injuring fish of the streams of whatever kind, and if all such fish baskets, eel-wires, where they now exist are not destroyed or dismantled within ten days after the date of this notice, I shall proceed to remove and dismantle the same as directed by said 11th Section of Act of 24th of May, 1871.
Bellefonte, Aug. 29, 1882. T. J. DUNKEL,
14 35 3td&w Sheriff.

EXECUTOR'S NOTICE.—Letters testamentary on the death of John Seyler, late of Walker township, having been granted to the undersigned all persons knowing themselves to be indebted to said estate are hereby notified to make immediate payments, and those having claims against the same to present them, duly authenticated, for payment.
14 31 6t JOHN L. ROGERS, Executor.

Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer.

It is entirely different from all others. It is as clear as water and, as its name indicates, is a perfect Vegetable Hair Restorer. It will immediately free the head from all dandruff, restore gray hair to its natural color, and produce a new growth where it has fallen off. It does not in any manner affect the health, which sulphur, sugar of lead, and nitrate of silver preparations have done. It will change light or faded hair in a few days to a beautiful glossy brown. Ask your druggists for it. Each bottle is warranted. Smith, Kline & Co., Wholesale Agents, Philadelphia, and C. N. Crittenton, New York. 14 24 1y

Announcements.

LEGISLATURE.

E. T. TUTEN, EDITOR REPUBLICAN.—Please announce my name as a candidate for member of the Legislature, subject to the decision of the Republican County Convention.
Boggs tp., Aug. 14, 1882. E. I. WALKER.

JURY COMMISSIONER.

We are authorized to announce as a candidate for Jury Commissioner the name of D. W. KLINE, of Huston township, subject to the decision of the Republican county convention.

We are authorized to announce the name of Henry C. Snavely, of Walker township, as a candidate for Jury Commissioner, subject to the decision of the Republican county convention.

A Generous Act in Bellefonte.

The most generous is now the opening of Fall and Winter goods in the line of Clothing, Boots and Shoes. Overcoats of all kinds from the cheapest up to the best, the finest line of Ladies' and Children's Shoes at the Boston Clothing House, just opened in Reynolds' block, opposite the Brockerhoff house, Allegheny street, Bellefonte, Pa. We are bound to show the people in this vicinity that clothing, boots and shoes can be sold for pretty near half the price they used to have to pay for them. The store is now filled up with the largest and most elegant stock of Men's, Boys' and Children's Clothing, Boots and Shoes ever seen in this section. The entire stock is gotten up expressly for this branch at the wholesale establishment in Boston, and made up by skillful mechanics with the very best material and trimmings, and every garment is warranted, and sewed with the very best silk and better made up than any Rochester Clothing as claimed by some parties. Remember we are able to do what we say. We are bound to draw the Clothing, Boot and Shoe trade for 50 miles around and will surely do so. 34-4t

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.—Estate of John Eckenroth. Letters of administration on the estate of John Eckenroth, late of Spring township, Centre county, Penn'a., deceased, have been granted to Jeremiah Eckenroth and Charles Eckenroth, residing in said township, to whom all persons indebted to said estate are requested to make payment and those having claims or demands will make known the same without delay.
JEREMIH ECKENROTH,
34-6t CHARLES ECKENROTH, Administrators.

Valuable Farm

FOR SALE.

The undersigned offers at private sale a farm situate in College township, Centre county, Pa., adjoining the village of Oak Hall, ten miles southwest of Bellefonte, and four miles east of State College, containing 166 acres of good lime stone land, all under cultivation, except 14 acres of good young timber. The improvements are a good two-story stone mansion house, bank barn and all necessary outbuildings. Also, a good orchard, springs and streams of running water, all convenient for stock. A good spring house convenient. The best of meadows for timothy and corn that can not be surpassed in the county, makes it a very desirable stock farm. The best of

Pipe Iron Ore

has been tested and partly developed on said property adjoining land of Dr. E. Hale, who owns the celebrated Pipe Ore Mines worked by Stover a few years ago.

The farm is pleasantly located, possessing the advantage of village and country, convenient to churches, schools, mills, factory and shops, all on a good turnpike road.

The property will commend itself to any one who is looking for a comfortable home, healthy situation in Penns Valley, Tussey mountain on the south, one and one-half mile, and end of Nittany mountain, one mile north, commanding in all fine mountain scenery.

This farm is so located that it could be divided in two parts if desired by purchasers. Say one with buildings of 116 acres, and the other part, 50 acres more or less, suitable for a two-horse farm.

Also a house and lot, containing over one acre, is offered for sale in said village. For terms and particulars call upon or address

JOHN L. FOSTER,
1434tf BOALSBURG, PA.

EXECUTORS' SALE
OF TWO Valuable Farms!

Will be sold at public sale, on Friday, October 27, 1882, commencing at 1 o'clock p. m., on the premises, at Gatesburg, Ferguson township, Centre county, Pa., on the farm of the late Michael Rider, deceased, the following described real estate, to wit:

The Homestead farm at Gatesburg, containing 185 acres and 134 perches, of which 150 acres is in a good state of cultivation; the balance in good young chestnut and oak timber. There is erected on the farm a good two-story house, with L, containing 14 rooms. A good bank barn, with all other necessary outbuildings, two wells of never-failing water, a cider house, containing good press and apple grinder, two bearing orchards of choicest fruit, plenty of iron ore, by appearance on top.

Also, at same time and place, a farm situated at Marengo station, on the Lewisburg and Tyrone railroad, about three miles west of Pennsylvania Furnace. This farm has a good two-story house, with L, containing 8 rooms, with a good bank barn and other out-buildings, a good well of never-failing water, Half Moon creek running through centre of farm. A small bearing orchard of good fruit. This farm also has good prospects of iron ore, by top appearance. This farm contains 161 acres and 134 perches, 125 acres in a good state of cultivation, the balance in oak and chestnut timber.

Conditions of sale are as follows: One-third on delivery of deed; the balance in two annual payments. To be secured by bond or mortgage, with interest. For information address Guyer P. O., Centre county, Pa. Will meet parties wishing to inspect farms at Marengo Station, on the Lewisburg railroad. We are determined to sell on date above mentioned. Possession given April 1, 1883. Purchaser can prospect for ore immediately after deed is given.
JACOB K. RIDER,
14 34 1t MATHIAS RIDER, Executors.

WORTH SENDING FOR!

Dr. J. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, has just published a book on "DISEASES OF THE LUNGS AND HOW THEY CAN BE CURED," which is offered FREE, postpaid to all applicants. It contains valuable information for all who suppose themselves afflicted with, or liable to, any diseases of the throat or lungs. Address DR. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, 600 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. P. O. Box 2833. 35-4t

S. & A. Loeb, General Merchandise.

Save Money When You Can!

ANY ONE CAN SAVE IT BY FOLLOWING THE ADVICE BELOW.

GROCERIES.

We are selling all classes of Groceries at prices below any grocery store in Bellefonte, showing a saving of 3 cents per pound on as staple an article as Coffee; 10 cents on Syrups; 2 cents on Bacon; from 10 to 25 cents per bushel on Potatoes; a few cents on every article of everyday consumption that goes into the house. Produce we always sell at same prices which we pay for it, thereby saving the consumer an extra profit that is always charged by exclusive grocery stores.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

We are selling all kinds of Boots and Shoes in wonderfully large variety and extra good quality, at prices far below any exclusive shoe store in Centre County. Quality guaranteed as good as can be made, and prices speak for themselves.

CLOTHING.

We are selling all sizes of Men's, Youth's, Boys' and Children's Clothing at an enormous saving on any exclusive clothing store, guaranteeing linings, trimmings and workmanship superior to any other ready-made Clothing sold in this county, and equal to any custom-made work. Patches are furnished with all children's suits. We make a specialty of the celebrated Stein, Adler & Co.'s manufacture, of Rochester, which is conceded by all to be the best in the United States.

CARPETS.

We are selling all grades of Carpets, ranging from the cheapest to the best, at lower prices than any store in Bellefonte, and have the largest variety to be found in the County, which has only to be seen to be verified. Carpets cut, fit, made and laid down in your houses on short notice.

DRY GOODS.

In Dry Goods we are determined not to be undersold, and have an exceedingly large stock, comprising everything in the line that the name implies. Dress Goods in every new shape out, Muslins, Calicos, Linens, House Furnishing Goods, in fact anything and everything, bought right and offered right.

NOTIONS.

In Notions and Trimmings our stock is full of novelties, at the very lowest prices.

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

Hats, Caps, Shirts, Suspenders, Collars, Cuffs, Hosiery, etc. Just call and convince yourselves. Room won't allow us to explain fully.

Why can we do all this? Simply because we deal in everything. We make a specialty of each department; neither one branch or the other of our ever increasing business need be largely profitable, but a very small margin in either sums up to satisfy us.

ALL KINDS OF COUNTRY PRODUCE WANTED.

S. & A. LOEB,

The Oldest General Merchants in Centre County.

ESTABLISHED 1852.

Bellefonte Republican.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

EDWARD R. TUTEN.

THE LATEST NEWS.

Advance and Retreat.

ISMAILIA, Aug. 28.—Troops are continually advancing, and it will not be long before Tel-el-Kebir is attacked. Between Ramses and Maxama the ground is good for marching, but the canal is full of dead horses and the bodies of Arabs. Some of the latter were thrown there by their comrades, while others were the corpses of men shot while attempting to escape. Judging by the quantity of clothing, etc., found in the abandoned camp, the rebels must have been in great force, but the most appear to have been peasantry armed with old muzzle-loading muskets. Most of the prisoners are peasants. All the dead are also peasants. The doctors prohibited the use of the water of Lake Maxama for drinking. An artillery general has been captured who speaks English fluently. He furnished valuable information. We now have two infantry regiments with cavalry and artillery at Kassasin. Mahmoud Fehmy's son has been captured by the British.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 28.—The enemy released the surplus water behind the dam and flooded the country on both their flanks. Cavalry and Bedouins continue to raid the village of Keks during the night, and are murdering the inhabitants.

Sultan Pasha, attended by Fuad Pasha and twelve subordinates, will start for Port Said and Ismailia today, to accompany General Wolseley as the khedive's commissioner, to explain to the population of the districts the British pass that their mission is solely to re-establish the authority of the khedive and overthrow military despotism.

The man-of war Minataur has successfully shelled the enemy out of Mandara on the line between Ramleh and Aboukir.

Riots in India.

CALCUTTA, August 28.—Fearful rioting between Hindoos and Mohammedans occurred at Salem. Some Mohammedans have been arrested. An eye witness of the disorders says he saw the disembowled body of a Mohammedan infant lying on the ground. Its arms were also torn off. Headless corpses of Mohammedan men and women were lying on every side. The houses of Mohammedans were burned, and the principal Mosque almost razed to the ground. Dead pigs have been thrown into the wells with the corpses of Mohammedan children. The troops are still patrolling the streets. The Mohammedans are a small minority of the population.

Daring Outrage.

CHICAGO, August 28.—A Toledo, Ohio, special says: Excursions were run yesterday to Grand Rapids, thirty miles from here, on the narrow gauge road. On the return trip in the afternoon five or six desperadoes, with drawn revolvers, captured the train and committed daring robbery and outrages. One citizen lost seventy-five dollars, one was thrown from the platform and the conductor was used up in trying to arrest one of the roughs. All escaped except Larry King, a notorious character, whom the police secured when the train reached the city.

General Sherman.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—General W. T. Sherman will ask to be placed on the retired list of the army in November, 1883. He would be retired under the army compulsory act of February 8, 1884. General Sherman stated to-day he made up his mind to retire from active service in the fall of next year, instead of waiting for the enforcement of the law, so as to give his successor in command of the army, Lieutenant General Sheridan, opportunity of expressing to the next congress such views as he may have looking to the best interest of the service.

Wholesale Slaughter.

YOKOHOMA, August 28—A body of insurgents directed by the ex-regent, the father of the king, attacked the royal residence and palace, at Seoul, the capital of Corea, on the evening of July 23. A Japanese man of war was dispatched at once, and reports that all the Japanese at Seoul had probably been slaughtered. Of the royal inmates of that place the king alone was spared. The queen was murdered, as was the heir and his betrothed. Thirteen ministers of state and other dignitaries were slain.

His Life in Danger.

CHICAGO, August 28.—A Bloomington, Ill., special says: Professor R. B. Welch, formerly principal of the Pontiac school, writes from Topeka that his life is in danger from liquor men there, because as the assistant state attorney he has been prosecuting violators of the state law. They have within a day or two cut his buggy to pieces, disfigured his house and threatened his life. He had to call a meeting of citizens to prevent being mobbed.

A $10,000 Fire.

HAVERHILL, Mass., Aug. 29.—Hayes & Connor's morocco factory; Hawes & Hick' sash and blind factory and Goodrich & Porter's shoe factory were destroyed by fire today and several dwelling were partially destroyed. The entire loss will reach $10,000.

A British Victory.

PORT SAID, Aug. 29.—Last evening the Arabs attacked the British position at Kassassin and were repulsed with heavy loss. The British lost one hundred and twenty men. Eleven of the enemy's guns were captured.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Other advices received in London confirm the report of the battle with and the repulse of the enemy at Kassassin. The fighting took place by moonlight. The British loss is from one hundred and twenty to one hundred and fifty men.

A dispatch from Ismailia states that the firing began on Monday between advanced posts of the enemy and of the British.

The latest telegrams from Corea state the uncle of the king has seized the throne.

The News has the following:

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 29.—Those afloat in the harbor to-day witnessed an unusual sight, the keel hauling of three Arab sailors on board the Egyptian frigate ouda for mutiny. They were first flogged and then tied to a rope and hauled up to the port side yard arm. They were then dropped into the sea, dragged under the keel and hauled up to the starboard yard arm. They were soon dead.

Swindling Game.

NEWBURG, August 29.—The police here are looking for a man calling himself Robert S. Ballard, who is charged with swindling a grocer by means of a bogus check. It is stated that Ballard represented that he had funds in the Northampton national bank, of Northampton, Mass., and the Chemical national bank, of New York, and deposited a five thousand dollar check on the former bank, and a one thousand dollar check on the latter in the Grosswick national bank here. The Northampton bank has telegraphed that the check in that bank is a fraud and pronounces Ballard a swindler. The Chemical bank also says that Ballard has no funds there. Ballard left yesterday for New York. In a valise which he left here were found checks on banks in Baltimore, Boston and other places aggregating over twenty-four thousand dollars. On Thursday last Ballard married one of his landlady's daughters, who is disconsolate at his disappearance. The banks generally have been notified of Ballard's transaction.

A Drunken Man's Deed.

NEW YORK, August 29.—A young married couple named Reilly, residing at Dutch Mills, an out-lying suburb of Long Island city, quarreled this morning and the husband, who was drunk, beat his wife. Her brother, Robert Desmond, who was present, persuaded her to visit the police station for the purpose of having her husband arrested. On their return Reilly again commenced beating his wife. Desmond interfered to protect his sister. Reilly, who is a shoemaker, rushed to his work bench, seized a thin, long-bladed knife, attacked his brother-in-law and cut his heart in two, killing him instantly, and stabbing him in in two places. The murderer fled, but was subsequently arrested. The post mortem showed seven wounds on the deceased.

Miss Fanny Parnell's Remains.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., August 28.—The following has been received from Charles S. Parnell in reply to the inquiries of members of the land league of this city in relation to the disposition of Miss Fanny Parnell's remains. My brother, sister and I desire my sister's remains should rest in America, the country where she was best known; where she had friends and where she lived and worked so many years.

Irish Constabulary.

DUBLIN, Aug. 28.—8 p. m.—The discontent of the constabulary extended to the Metropolitan police to-day when four hundred of them met to complain that they were not compensated for extra work. The agitation, however, subsided upon their being assured by the chief commissioner and Lord Spencer that an inquiry should be made into their grievances.

Another Call for Bonds.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Secretary Folger has decided to issue another call for bonds which will probably be made to-morrow. It will embrace all the continued sixes remaining uncalled and which have not been surrendered for exchange for the new threes. It is estimated that there are about $4,000,000 of this class of bonds.

Bucks County.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Aug. 28.—Democratic nomination. State senate, Charles S. Vandegrift; assembly, Charles H. Monsidler, J. Miles Jamison, Thomas MacReynolds, James M. Snyder; district attorney, Henry Murfit; prothonotory, John R. Bitting; jury commissioner, Henry H. Sands; director of the poor, Silas P. Apple; auditor, George W. Boileau.

To be Removed.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., Aug. 29.—It has been decided that the remains of Miss Fanny Parnell shall be transferred from the receiving vault to Boston to be deposited in the family vault there for the present. The date of removal has not yet been decided.

Yellow Fever Report.

BROWNSVILL, Texas, Aug. 29.—Sexenty-two new cases of yellow fever and two deaths were reported here to-day. There are a few cases among the troops in Fort Brown but they are doing well.

An Engineer Killed.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—Last night Bart Minnich, of Chambersburg, an engineer on the Cumberland Valley railroad, was fatally injured near Mont Alto station. The accident was the result of a misplaced switch, by whom and under what circumstances is not known. Minnich had charge of engine No. 18, and learning that another locomotive was coming in an opposite direction sought safety from collision on a siding at Mont Alto Junction. About 11 o'clock last night an engine in charge of James Tolham, coming east, was deflected from the main track by a misplaced switch and collided with terrific force with Minnich's locomotive. When the engineer of the latter engine saw that a collision was inevitable he made a jump to save his life. Both locomotives were badly wrecked and Minnich was thrown among the debris and had one of his legs terribly crushed. About five hours afterward death ensued. Tolham tried to leave his engine, but in some manner one of his legs caught and he was unable to accomplish his purpose. To this circumstance he probably owes his life. He sustained no injury of any consequence.

A Philadelphia Failure.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—The firm of William H. Lloyd Co., bankers and brokers, failed this morning, with liabilities among brokers of about ten thousand dollars. The heaviest sufferers are country depositors, with whom the bankrupt firm did considerable banking business. The country losses are independent of the liabilities given, and their extent cannot be obtained. The firm is said to have been trading heavily in Northern Pacific, Lehigh Valley and Buffalo, Pittsburg and Western, of which they are said to have been short, and after covering at big prices became long on the market. The recent fall in prices forced the suspension.

Pardons Refused.

CHICAGO, August 29.—An Indian territory special says: Thirteen prisoners taken during the Sands rebellion in the Creek nation, have just been found guilty and punished with one hundred lashes on the bare back. Chief Cheytoe refused to pardon the rebels, although there were large petitions for clemency. Two or three of the culprits almost fainted, but the majority exhibited iron nerve.

Berks County Democrats.

READING, Pa., August 29.—To-day the democratic county convention nominated a full ticket, as follows: Assembly, George M. Lorah, Charles A. Seidell, Isaac Z. Deck, James W. Spongale; director of the poor, Henry B. Shearer; coroner, Henry D. Shoedler; prison inspectors, John O. Bold and Henry Riegen. Daniel Ermentrout was renominated for congress.

Perry County Democrats.

NEW BLOOMFIELD, Perry County, Pa., August 28.—The democratic county convention to-day nominated W. H. Smith, of Bloomfield, for assembly; Aaron McGolf, of Spring township, for associate judge; George W. Zinn, of Newport, for prothonotary; W. Myers, of Rye township, for poor director; Samuel Lesher, of New Bufalo, for jury commissioner, and Dr. Steele, of New Buffalo, for coroner. No instructions were given as to congressman.

Enthusiasts in Trouble.

PATERSON, N. J., Aug. 29.—The officers of the salvation army were tried to-day for disorderly conduct, consisting in singing and shouting in the streets on Sunday. After several hours deliberation the jury was discharged, having failed to agree. They stood 5 to 1 in favor of conviction.

The Archbishop.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The condition of the archbishop of Canterbury continues grave.

Choice Extracts From Druggists.

"We know the value of malt, hops, quinine bark and asparagus composing Malt Bitters."

"Best kidney medicine on our shelves."

"Our lady customers highly praise them."

"Physicians prescribe them in this town."

"The largest bottle and best medicine."

"Our best people take 'Malt Bitters.'"

"Sure cure for chills and liver diseases."

Bishop Simpson confesses that he used to be so timid that he would walk around the square to avoid meeting a young lady That's nothing unusual when it isn't the right young lady.

"THEIR WARFARE IS ACCOMPLISHED" was the touching inscription placed upon the tombstone of a husband and wife. There is nothing which so sours a man, and induces domestic warfare as ill health; and especially weakness in the back, loss of physical power, an early breaking down of body, rendering one unfit to attend to his business. Then cares and anxieties multiply, the temper becomes ruffled, and peace flies out of the window. Behold the great restorer, Hunt's Remedy! Quietly it comes to the man's relief. One bottle searches out the disease and begins its cure. Two or three more take on the good work and finish it satisfactorily. The kidneys are healed and restored to their proper functions, the weakness is gone, the back is renewed, the bloom of health returns, and all the old-time mental vigor in one's business affairs; and there is no more sour temper, but lasting peace. All hail to Hunt's Remedy!

Mr. Flasher, to a lady clerk at the hotel. "Am I to consider this as a proposal?" asked the bright lady. "Well—er—yes—if my wife is willing to let me off," replied the accomplished Flasher.

More universally recommended than any proprietory medicine made. A sure and reliable tonic, Brown's Iron Bitters.

A woman, lately, looking at a printing press at work, turned to her companion, and in a most earnest manner inquired: "Well Charley, an' them's the things as writes the papers. Be's them what they call editors?"

Patents who allow their children to grow up with scrofulous humors bursting from every pore are guilty of a great wrong. Think of them pointed out as branded with a loathsome disease, and you will readily procure them the Cuticura Remedies.

An Irish corporal who sometimes indulged, was thus accosted by his captain, while standing at ease: "Pat what makes your nose so red?" "Please, yer honor, I always blush when I spakes to an officer."

All ladies know their faces are more attractive when free from pimples. Parker's Ginger Tonic is popular among them because it banishes impurities from the blood and skin, and makes the face glow and the eye sparkle with health.

"Fwat dy'e shpose I fwant to fool away me toime a kickin' that owld black bladder about fur?" was the corker propounded by a diligent Hibernian, when asked to play football, last week.

A pure, wholesome distillation of witch hazel, American pine, Canada fir, marigold, clover blossoms, etc., fragrant with the healing essences of balsam and pine. Such is Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh. Complete treatment for $1.

A mother, standing at the gate, calls to her boy who is exactly sixty-eight feet distant. It takes two minutes and twenty-two seconds for the sound to reach him. Find from this the velocity with which a woman's voice travels.

All That is Claimed.

560 BALTIMORE STREET,
BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 5, 1881.

H. H. WARNER & Co: Sirs—Your Safe Kidney and Liver Cure has accomplished in my case all you claim for it. I have been thoroughly healed by its speedy curative properties.

G. F. BESK.

Everybody is at the summer resorts, and hundreds of houses in the city are deserted by their owners, while the only moving creatures left behind are the rats and the ever registering gas meter.—Newark Call.

"This world is all a fleeting show," but it takes very lively work for some of us to keep hold of our tickets of admission; a great many of us are put out at the exits—"Pneumonia" and "Consumption;" but the number of these has been greatly reduced since so many coughs and colds have been "nipped in the bud" by the timely use of Sines' Tar, Wild cherry and Hoarhound. For sale by all druggists. 25 and 50 cents.

Never go into a railway superintendent's office with a clergyman; there is nothing a railway man hates to see more than a man coming in to introduce a coupler.—Boston Commercial Bulletin.

Explains Itself.

Special Telegram.

GREAT VALLEY, N. Y.—Having sold your medicines for the past two and a half years can cheerfully recommend all of them, especially Baxter's Mandrake Bitters, as I have sold several gross of them, and in every instance wherever I have recommended any one to try a bottle they have come back after more. I have used all your medicines in my own family and find them all excellent remedies.

Yours truly, J. E. CHASE,
Price 25 cts. per bottle. Druggist.

Peanuts are now sold minus the shells. This is really too bad. The girls can no more be cracking the toothsome nut to plague the minister and then throw the shells at the boys across the aisles.—Dayville Sunbeam.

Two Valuable Farms at Private Sale.

THE REAL ESTATE SITUATE IN CENTRE COUNTY, belonging to the heirs of the late DR. A. A. HENDERSON, is offered at private sale. It consists of two valuable farms, one situate in College township, containing about two hundred and ten acres of cleared land and thirty acres of timber land, thereon erected a LARGE STONE MANSION HOUSE, TWO GOOD FRAME DWELLING HOUSES, Bank Barn and all necessary outbuildings. Also a GOOD ORCHARD of eight acres. Springs and a stream of running water through the farm.

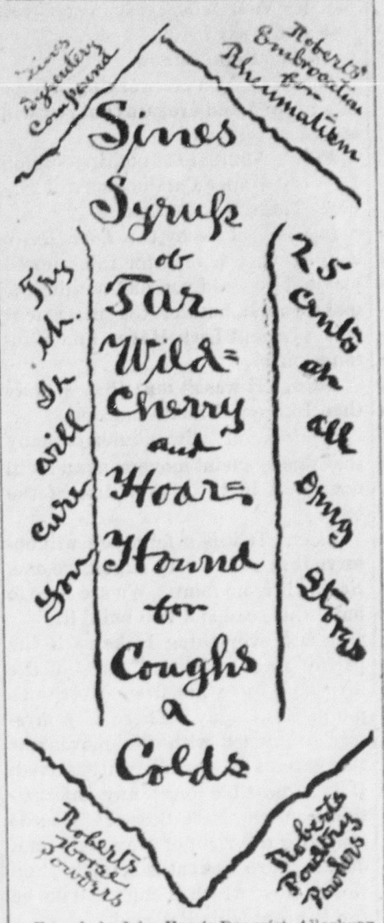
Another situate in Harris township, containing about one hundred and sixty (160) acres (all cleared excepting eight acres), thereon erected a LARGE BRICK DWELLING HOUSE, bank barn, corn house, ice house, and all necessary outbuildings. There is also a good young Orchard on this farm, and the right to pipe water from a stream of running water.

Also a TRACT OF TIMBER LAND on the north side of Tussey mountain, containing one hundred acres, and another containing between one and two acres, with water right sufficient to run machinery of mill.

Payments will be made to suit the purchasers. For terms and particulars call upon or address GEO. A. HENDERSON
14-32-1m Boalsburg, Pa.

Gold. Great chance to make money Those who always take advantage of the great chances for making money, that are offered, generally become wealthy, while those who do not improve such chances remain in poverty. We want many men, women, boys and girls to work for us right in their own localities. Any one can do the work properly from the first start. The business will pay more than ten times ordinary wages. Expensive outfit furnished free. No one who engages fails to make money rapidly. You can devote your whole time to the work, or only your spare moments. Full information and all that is needed sent free. Address, STINSON & Co., Portland, Maine. jan1 d6mawly

Miscellaneous.



Sines
Syrup of Tar Wild Cherry and Hoar Hound for Coughs & Colds
Roberts' Bronchial Expectorant
Roberts' Embrocation for Rheumatism
Roberts' Horse Powders
Roberts' Poultry Powders

For sale by John Harris Druggist, Allegheny Street Bellefonte Pa. d&wMar17 1y

JAMES HARRIS & CO.,

HARDWARE!

ARE SELLING VERY LOW

REAPER SECTIONS AND REPAIRS,

And all kinds of Farming Tools.

RAKES FORKS SCYTHES CRADLES, SPROUT'S HAY FORKS,

ROPE BLOCKS, ETC., ETC.,

As well as all kinds of HARDWARE, to meet all demands in this line. 25

With that COUGH when there is a remedy at hand so pleasant, so certain, and so safe, that the most delicate child may take it without danger. It is called

GREEN'S Comp. Syrup of TAR, HONEY & BLOODROOT

It contains all the virtues of Tar in a concentrated form, combined with the best Expectorants and Anodynes, the whole prepared without the aid of heat, forming the BEST KNOWN REMEDY for all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

Try one bottle and be convinced. Price 50 cents per bottle. Manufactured only by

F. POTTS GREEN, BELLEFONTE, PA

GUNS

I am now opening a new stock of

Breech-Loading Double Guns,
Winchester Rifles,
Revolvers, Cutlery,
Cartridges,
B. L. Implements, and a general stock of
SPORTING AMMUNITION,

Shot at Wholesale and Retail
(Chilled and Soft.)

Shot Gun Cartridges Loaded to Order.
Breech and Muzzle Loading Guns Carefully Repaired

Also agent for the Pittsburgh

New Family Sewing Machine,

Gun and Machine Oils, Needles and Sewing Machine Attachments.

THEODORE DESCHNER.

SHOP, NO. 44, HIGH STREET,

BELLEFONTE, PA, 14-30-3m

Miscellaneous.

BURCHFIELD'S

New Grocery Store,

Just opened in the new Centre County Bank building,

High Street, BELLEFONTE, PA.,

Has everything

New, Fresh and Desirable.

The most extensive stock of Groceries, Canned Goods, Spices,

Table Delicacies, Provisions,
Confectioneries, Glassware,
Stoneware, Queensware, Tobaccos,
Cigars, &c.

In this section of the state.

These goods will be sold at either wholesale or retail, and at prices to suit the times.

As everything in stock is perfectly fresh, and purchased for cash, I can guarantee the fullest satisfaction in both quality and price.

A cordial invitation is extended to everybody to call, and a fair share of the patronage of the people is respectfully requested.

14-19-1y

SPRING MILLS HOUSE,
SPRING MILLS, CENTRE CO., PA

The terminus of the Lewisburg and Tyrone R. R.

This is a New House and newly furnished with Everything tending to Comfort and Convenience of Guests.

The air is invigorating and perfectly free from Malaria, and particularly favorable for the restoration to health of persons afflicted with Pulmonary complaints, Malaria disorders and Hay Fever.

The Table is plentifully supplied with meats, milk and fresh vegetables and fruits in season, healthfully prepared and tastefully served.

GOOD STABLING ACCOMMODATIONS.

POPULAR PRICES:

Per day, (less than a week,) ..... $ 2 00
Per week, (less than a month,) 6 00
Per month, ... 20 00

All inquiry as to Rooms and Board will be promptly answered.

14-20-1f GEO. R. NASH, Manager.

Dr. Lindsey's Blood Searcher.

Nothing in the world equal to it for the cure of Scrofula, Pimples, Boils, Tetter, Old Sores, Sore Eyes, Mercurial Diseases, Catarrh, Loss of Appetite, Female Complaints, and all Blood Diseases. It NEVER fails. All druggists and country store keepers sell it. R. E. Sellers & Co., Prop's, Pittsburgh, on every bottle. 33-4t

COLUMBIA HOUSE,

Nos. 111 and 113 N'th Broad Street (above Arch

PHILADELPHIA, PENN'A.

Directly opposite Academy of Fine Arts; three squares from Academy of Music and Horticultural Hall; one block from the new City Hall and the Pennsylvania railway passenger depot; adjoins the National Surgical Institution; half block from Masonic Temple, and within three squares of the Philadelphia & Reading passenger depot.

TERMS, $1.50 PER DAY.

MRS. ELIZABETH A. HUTTON, Proprietress
14-21tf

HOLMAN'S PICTORIAL Family Bible,

Containing both versions of the NEW TESTAMENT. We make no extra charge for this addition. Other publishers charge $1.

Fine PHOTOGRAPH ALBUMS

ELEGANT DESIGNS, HANDSOMELY BOUND.

Our Bibles contain 2,000 pages, 2,500 illustrations. EXTRA INDUCEMENTS OFFERED TO ENERGETIC AGENTS. Illustrated Catalogue sent on application.

A. J. HOLMAN & CO., 1222 Arch St.,
14-33-4t Philadelphia.

NOTICE TO INVESTORS!

First Mortgage Real Estate Loans, made and guaranteed by the Nebraska Loan & Trust Company,

HASTINGS, NEBRASKA.

School Bonds and Municipal Securities for sale. Best of references furnished. Write for full particulars.

JAS. B. HEARTWELL, Pres. E. C. WEBSTER Treas.
14-33-4t

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS

—A damsel who lived in Dubuque,
Was ambitious to marry a duque;
But as none came to her,
She accepted a pooher
Young fellow whose name was Luque.

The bride was led up the broad aisle,
Got up in the most killing staisle;
When asked if she'd be
A true wife to he,
She promptly replied, "I should smaisle."
—St. Joseph (Mo.) News.

—All the children on Bishop street have the whooping cough.

—The Phœnix Planing Mill seems to be in operation night and day.

—The boat house on the planing mill dam is a favorite place of resort.

—Several merry parties left town to-day on picnic and other excursions.

—Potatoes are 35 cents per bushel in Williamsport and 75 cents in Bellefonte.

—The Bellefonte Boat Club contemplate the purchase of two more boats.

—Only a few hours remain in which to enjoy this balmy August sunshine.

—Bellefonte public schools have adopted Robinson's shorter course in Arithmetic.

—The blowing of glass began at the glass works in this place on Saturday last.

—And now they are saying that Arabi Bey is an Irishman—that he is a direct descendant of Arabi Jabers.

—The Juniata Valley Printers all wore pink satin ribbon badges, bearing the name of the offices which they represent.

—The largest quantity of peaches yet received in Bellefonte in one day arrived last Thursday. They were of good quality and cheap.

—The Centre County Banking Company have not yet began the new walk which is so greatly needed in front of their property.

—A very badly crippled man occupied a position on the Diamond last week selling pocket-knives. He seemed worthy of patronage.

—The annual meeting of the Centre county Baptist Association began at Martha, Centre county, on Wednesday, to continue three days.

—The finishing touches have been added to the new bridge across the race, but it has not yet been tested with the weight of an engine.

—The Williamsport base ball nine won an easy victory over the Lock Haven nine in a game played on the grounds of the latter club on Saturday.

—The Canada thistles should be exterminated. They should be regarded as an Arabi Bey upon which relentless war with picks and shovels should be waged.

—The Executive Committee of the County Constitutional Amendment Association met on the 29th ult. at 1 o'clock, consequently there is a panic among beer imbibers.

—Many horses manifest the most abject terror when driven across the bridge near the nail works. Their fear is probably caused by the slaughter house in that vicinity.

—The M. E. Sunday-school are discussing the advisability of holding a picnic. The boys threaten to "strike" if an excursion of some kind is not planned and carried out soon.

—Last week a horse belonging to Mr. Isaac Haupt stepped on a tenpenny nail, the sharp point penetrating through the animal's foot. For some time the horse was considered to be in a dangerous condition.

—There is no end of delectable edibles to tempt the palate just now. All kinds of fruits, vegetables and berries are offered for sale, which may be eaten in their natural state or cooked, as suits the taste of the consumer.

—Stephenson's School in Penmanship will continue but a few weeks. You should embrace this opportunity to attend. The present class is making rapid progress. Mr. S. has organized a class in double-entry bookkeeping.

—The little son of Mr. George W. Musser, of Lemont, died the 29th ult. He was an only son and had never enjoyed good health. We condole with the parents who mourn the departure of their little one, who is not dead but only gone before.

—The State College began the 25th ult., with an increase in the number of students attending the primary department, but a decrease in the number who are pursuing the advanced College course. There are one or two post-graduates in attendance.

—At a meeting of the church wardens and vestrymen of St. John's P. E. church, on Monday, the 28th ult., a resolution was unanimously adopted requesting the Rev. Mr. Hewitt to withdraw his resignation of the rectorship of their church presented some weeks ago. Whether Mr. Hewitt will accede to this request or not we have not yet learned. We hope he will.

The Arch Fiend.

Some surprising tales are told by persons who travel the road between Bellefonte and Aaronsburg—tales which make each separate hair of the listener raise itself on end and cause the blood to congeal within him. The incidents are related by well known persons who have recently passed over the ground where none other than Satan, the great enemy of the human race and inhabitants of Centre county in particular, is accustomed to appear in human form. They relate their experiences with an earnestness which shows that they firmly believe they have seen the real prince of the lower regions and are laboring under no hallucination. This strange apparition is from eight to ten feet high (they have never had an opportunity to measure him accurately), is dressed in peculiar garb and runs with great swiftness.

It is related that not long ago two citizens of our county were riding toward Aaronsburg when this strange being sprang from a thicket in front of them, made his way across the road and disappeared through a hole in the fence, while our travelers went on their way as quickly as possible without seeking to make an investigation.

A horseman who was riding over the same road not long after the last-mentioned occurrence was the victim of the most frightful experience in relation to this human monster that we have heard. The spectre appeared also mounted on a ghostly steed and rode near the traveler, his hot breath fanning our hero's cheeks with a heat that suggested the fires of the lower regions. To say that he was alarmed but half expresses the real truth. His horse was almost unmanageable with fright. The animal sped along as fast as an arrow from an Indian's bow, once almost leaping over a wayside fence. Arriving at a steep declivity as precipitous as the hill which leads down Allegheny street from the reservoir, the animal continued its rapid flight, the spectral horse and rider keeping even pace, and not until in sight of Aaronsburg did the creature vanish in the air.

It chanced, a few days after this, that two men were crossing a field, when one, reminded by some subtle essence in the air of the stories he had heard about Satan's appearance, remarked: "What would you do if you would see 'raw head and bloody bones?'"—that being the commonly accepted designation given to the mysterious creature. "I would speak to him," answered the man with a desperate exhibition of courage. "I would fly," said the first speaker. Just then the Satanic figure appeared and the man suited his action to his words and ran with all the speed which terror sometimes gives the most lagging limbs. When he had ran about a mile and heard nothing in pursuit he turned to look after his companion. He saw him kneeling before the spectre in an attitude of entreaty, and he had doubtless by this time repented his boldness in daring to speak to this evil spirit. We understand that this was the last that has been seen of this bold individual.

The above is no fancy sketch, but the events are related as actual occurrences. We give them as we have heard them.

Notes from Marsh Creek.

MARSH CREEK, Aug. 28, 1882.

MR. EDITOR: I thought that perhaps a few lines from this section would not be amiss for your valuable columns, and to begin with I must tell you that the farmers are all through with their hay, oats and grain harvests. The crops were large and the fortunate reapers of Mother Earth's bounty are well pleased. In fact, no better corn crop can be found in the county than this part of Boggs township produces. Potatoes will be a very good crop, the average being larger than any previous year.

The amount of building going on in this section this year is in excess of any one season for the past ten years. Mr. William Yarnell has erected a very fine residence and now occupies it. He deserves the praise of all good citizens for his enterprise and excellent management. His new residence is 18 by 30 feet with a kitchen 16 feet square. Mr. Matthew Riddle is also building a fine residence, having purchased the Riddle farm, and, in a few weeks will be comfortably located in his own home. Mr. Jacob Yarnell, also one of our well-to-do farmers, is erecting a fine residence. Indeed, it would be difficult for us to mention any residents of this section who are not prospering.

Mr. Wm. Lucas is proprietor of the mercantile establishment where we go to get "something to wear." We never fail to find it at his store. He sells goods as cheap as can be expected, and in quality and variety they are equal to those found in any similar store in the county.

The steam saw mill of E. I. Walker is running full time, and the enterprise shown by Mr. W. in putting a mill at this place is creditable to him. During the last three years he has employed a large number of men and is always ready to aid a working man by giving him an opportunity to work at good wages, or in other ways. I understand that Mr. Walker is a candidate for the legislature. If nominated I know of no man in the county who can poll a larger vote, he being a working man himself. When I passed by his mill last week he was busy firing it in person, and I well know that if nominated and elected the laboring class will not have to regret any bad legislation on his part. He is acquainted with the wants of the laboring class and as such he will do all in his power to help them. I know this as I have lived close to his place for the last ten years, and I believe that if he is nominated no other man will poll a larger vote. May his shadow never grow less.

Not desiring to occupy too much of your valuable space, I will close with the promise of

MORE TO FOLLOW.

A Democratic Mass Meeting.

The very excellent performances of the Pleasant Gap Band aided materially in drawing together a large crowd on Tuesday evening, the 29th ult., who followed that musical organization into the court house to take part in the mass meeting announced to be held by the Democrats.

The court room was well filled, the seats all being occupied, and many in the aisles. Republicans were observed scattered quite numerously through the room.

The band discoursed a lively air and Major R. H. Forster mounted the rostrum and called the meeting to order. John A. Woodward, Esq., of Howard, was made President, and expressed thanks for the honor conferred. Officers were announced as follows:

Vice President—Daniel Z. Kline, Bellefonte, N. W; John Hoffer, Bellefonte, S. W; Jonathan Harper, Bellefonte, W. W; Balser Weber, Howard; E. H. Carr, Milesburg; Reuben B. Hartman, Millheim; C. G. Herlinger, Philipsburg; T. A. Leathers, Unionville; Uriah Stover, Benner; H. S. Barnhart, Boggs; William Hipple, Burnside; Frank Taylor, College; Nathan McCloskey, Curtin; John F. Krebs, Ferguson; J. B. Fisher, Gregg; Michael S. Fidler, Haines; John A. Hunter, Half Moon; Samuel Ishler, Harris; Hon. Henry Dopp, Howard; John Gingery, Huston; Isaac Frain, Marion; Jacob Brumgard, Miles; George W. Stover, Penn; Hon. John K. Runkle, Potter; A. C. Hinton, Snow Shoe; Hon. J. G. Larimer, Spring; Samuel H[illegible], Taylor; Christian Hoover, Union; Soloman Peck, Walker.

Secretaries—Frederick Kurtz, Joseph W. Furey and J. R. Van Ormer.

Ex-Governor A. G. Curtin was observed in the audience several times and whenever his tall form came in view he was greeted with cheers. After all the preliminaries were completed loud calls were made for him to address the meeting, which he did in his usual eloquent manner. He presented quite an array of figures taken from official records of the accuracy of which we do not doubt; but not one of them affords sufficient reason for changing a vote from the Republican to the Democratic ticket He acknowledged that the country under Republican rule, is exceptionally prosperous; inveighed against that terrible spectre to Democratic orators termed centralization of power; alluded to the inability of Democratic members of Congress to accomplish anything; and explained the animus of his action in refusing to permit a vote of thanks to be tendered the speaker of the House. The ex-Governor was listened to with that respectful attention and interest which he always receives from his admiring fellow-citizens.

W. U. Hensel, Esq., State Chairman, followed with a speech which contained several ungentlemanly and untrue allusions to General James A. Beaver, but which we did not hear, having retired from the court room. J. Simpson Africa, of Huntingdon, was also present, but owing to the lateness of the hour was merely introduced to the audience.

—The funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Bond Valentine, in the M. E. church on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, were very largely attended. Revs. Penepacker and Yocum officiated. The casket containing the body was furnished by Mr. Henry Harris, undertaker, of this place, and was a beautiful piece of workmanship. It was covered with black cloth with handsome velvet mouldings.

Pine Grove Mills Items.

PINE GROVE MILLS, August 29, 1882.

The plum crop, for which our village is especially noted, will be unusually small this season.

Mr. Levi Krebs is erecting a new dwelling house on his farm which he expects to have ready for occupancy this fall.

Prof. B. F. Musser, of Aaronsburg, is giving entire satisfaction as principal of the Academy. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg, and well qualified to give instruction in any department that may be desired. Young men and women who wish to fit themselves for teaching or business or prepare for College would find it to their advantage to come to Pine Grove.

A party of thirty-two from this this place and vicinity visited Bear Meadows, on Friday, the 26th, most of whom encamped on that romantic ground over night. A few traces of bear were seen, but none of the ferocious beasts encountered. The party enjoyed themselves very much, sleeping in a tent in the woods being an enjoyable novelty to most of them, and the weather was quite charming. We think that citizens of Bellefonte might enjoy a similar visit to the same spot.

The works erected by the Nitany Valley Iron Company on the Brumgard farm, near Pine Hall, will soon be ready for operations. They will have ore in abundance.

The Struble ore mines can no longer be regarded as an experiment or a wild undertaking, as they were formerly viewed by some. The precious mineral is of good quality, and there seems to be no such thing as estimating the quantity. Few men have the persistency and enterprise which has been manifested by Mr. Struble in this undertaking. We congratulate him on his success and the bright future which opens before him.

Thomas Kustenbirder is prospecting for iron on his farm and finding it in apparently large quantities.

X.

—The Ninth Annual Reunion and Basket Picnic of the Veteran Club of Centre county will be held at City Park, Snow Shoe, on Saturday, September 9th, 1882, exercises beginning at 11 a. m., sharp. These are always pleasant gatherings and there will doubtless be a large attendance of soldiers with their friends. A card from the President and Secretary contains instructions for reaching the ground as follows: "A special train will leave Bellefonte for Snow Shoe at 9 o'clock a. m. Passengers from above the Intersection can come to that point by this train on its way to Bellefonte. Passengers from below Milesburg can come to that point on the express from Lock Haven. Fare for round trip from Bellefonte, Milesburg and Intersection, 65 cents. From Tyrone to Julian, inclusive, tickets will be sold at usual excursion rates to Intersection, and from Lock Haven to Howard, inclusive. To those who never visited Snow Shoe the ride over the "Switch Back" alone will compensate for the outlay."

—Miss Lauth, daughter of Bernard Lauth, Esq, the great iron manufacturer of Howard, this county, gave a very splendid party at her father's residence on Wednesday evening. Bellefonte was, perhaps, better represented at the gathering than any other one place, about twenty gentlemen and ladies from town being present. Ten persons were present from Lock Haven, and the remainder of the guests were from Howard and vicinity—the total number being about fifty. The gathering was exceedingly pleasant throughout and the entertainment of the finest description. There was no dancing, but some very excellent music, and the supper was superior. The exalted opinion in regard to Miss Lauth's powers of entertaining—always high in the minds of her numerous friends—was very much increased by the recherche affair of Wednesday night.

—Dr. Rothrock, the dentist, is not Dr. Thomas, but Dr. H. H. We therefore correct the error made in a local a few days ago, as Dr. Rothrock gained his fame in dentistry as Dr. H. H. Rothrock, and does not wish to be mistaken for another person. His residence is near Hublersburg, this county, and he frequently visits town to give his patrons in this place the benefit of his skill.

—The funeral services of the late Mrs. Dr. Hibler took place Wednesday morning, the 30th ult., at 10 o'clock from her husband's residence on Allegheny street. The attendance was quite large, and the services were rendered very impressively by Rev. John Hewitt, rector of the Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Field.

—July and August have contained a larger number of days and hours than any two consecutive months of 1882.

New Advertisements.

Cuticura
THE NEW BLOOD PURIFIER
Resolvent

Mr. Albert Kingsbury, Keene, N. H., troubled with bad humor on hands and neck, caused by lead poisoning. (He is a painter.) At times it would break out, crack open, and the skin separate from the flesh in large pieces, suffering great continual itching and stinging. Purchased your remedies; used CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally, and in less than three months effected a complete cure, and has not been troubled since. Corroborated by Bullard & Foster, Druggists, Keene, N. H.

MOTHER DIED FROM IT.

J. W. Adams, Newark, Ohio, says: "Cuticura Remedies are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst case salt rheum in this county. My mother had it twenty years, and in fact died from it. I believe Cuticura would have saved her life. My arms, breast and head were covered for three years, which nothing relieved or cured until I used the Cuticura Resolvent (blood purifier) internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura soap externally.

PSORIASIS.

H. E. Carpenter, Esq., Henderson, N. Y., cured of Psoriasis or Leprosy, of twenty years' standing, by the CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally. The most wonderful case on record. Cure certified to before a justice of the peace and prominent citizens. All afflicted with itching and scaly diseases should send to us for this testimonial in full.

SALT RHEUM.

Those who have experienced the torments of Salt Rheum can appreciate the agony I endured for years, until I cured by CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally.
MRS. WM. PELLINGTON, Sharon, Wis.

CUTICURA

And CUTICURA SOAP externally and CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally will positively cure every species of Humor, from a common Pimple to Scrofula.

Price of Cuticura, Small boxes, 50c.; large boxes, $1.00. Cuticura Resolvent, $1.00 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25c.; Cuticura Shaving Soap, 15c.

Depot, WEEKS & POTTER, Boston, Mass.

CATARRH

Sanford's Radical Cure.

A single dose instantly relieves the most violent sneezing or head colds, clears the head as by magic, stops watery discharges from the nose and eyes, prevents ringing noises in the head, cures Nervous Headache and subdues Chills and Fever. In Chronic Catarrh it cleanses the nasal passages of foul mucus, restores the senses of smell, taste and hearing when affected, frees the head, throat and bronchial tubes of offensive matter, sweetens and purifies the breath, stops the cough and arrests the progress of catarrh towards consumption.

One bottle Radical Cure, one box Catarrhal Solvent and Sanford's Inhaler, all in one package, of all druggists, for $1. Ask for Sanford's Radical Cure.

WEEKS & POTTER, Boston.

100 TIMES MORE EFFECTUAL than any other plaster or electric battery for pain and weakness of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys and Urinary organs, Partial Paralysis, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Hysteria, Female Weakness, Nervous Pains and Weaknesses, Malaria and Fever and Ague. Price 25 cents. Sold everywhere.

PENNSYLVANIA
STATE COLLEGE.

Fall Term Opens August 25.

This institution is located in one of the most beautiful and healthful spots of the entire Allegheny region. It is open to students of both sexes, and offers the following Courses of Study:

1. A Full Classical Course of four years.
2. A Full Scientific Course of four years.
3. The following SPECIAL COURSES, of two years each, following the first two years of the full Scientific Course: (a) AGRICULTURE; (b) NATURAL HISTORY; (c) CHEMISTRY AND PHYSICS; (d) CIVIL ENGINEERING.
4. A short SPECIAL COURSE in Agriculture.
5. A short SPECIAL COURSE in Chemistry.
6. A Classical and Scientific Preparatory Course.

Military drill is required. Expenses for board and incidentals very low. Tuition free. Young ladies under charge of a competent lady Principal.

For Catalogues, or other information, address GEO. W. ATHERTON, President, 14-28-tf State College, Centre Co., Pa.

W. P. Duncan & Co.,
BELLEFONTE, PA.
ENGINEERS & MACHINISTS
BELLEFONTE
PATENT WATER WHEEL,
STEAM ENGINES,
CIRCULAR SAW MILLS,
ROLLING MILL
AN Grist Mill Machinery
5 46a812-tf

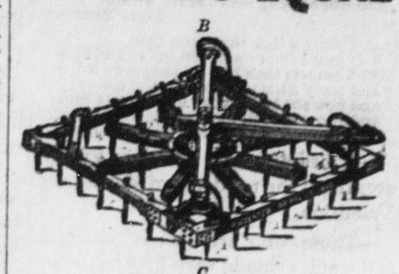
Drs. J. N. & J. B. Hobensack,
No. 208 Second st., Above Race,
PHILADELPHIA.

For 30 years have been engaged in the treatment of Secret Diseases as regular practitioners. Read "Wisdom in a Nutshell." Sent to any address on receipt of a three-cent stamp. Useful information to the afflicted.

Office hours from 8 a. m. to 2 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m. Consultations by mail strictly private and confidential. 14-30-1y*

Miscellaneous.

THE PENN
HARROW
BEST IN THE WORLD
IT HAS NO EQUAL



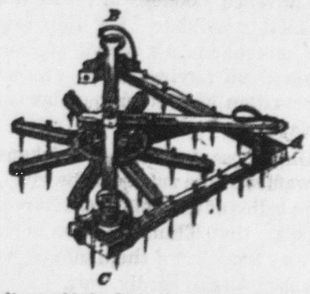
Patented April 18, 1882.

The above cut represents the Penn Harrow complete, with all its combinations of Five Harrows and a sled for each Harrow; and each succeeding change is made from this Harrow without the least additional expense. By hooking the team to either point, B or C, the center revolves and gives the ground Two Strokes and Two Crossings in passing over it once, making it the most effective pulverizer in the market.

THIS HARROW HAS ONLY TO BE USED TO BE APPRECIATED.

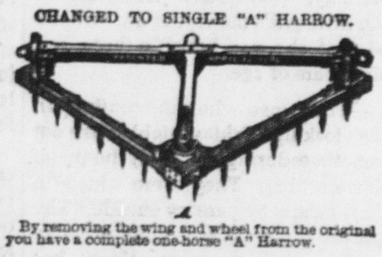
See it before purchasing and you will buy no other.

The Penn Harrow
CHANGED TO A THREE-CORNER ROTARY HARROW.



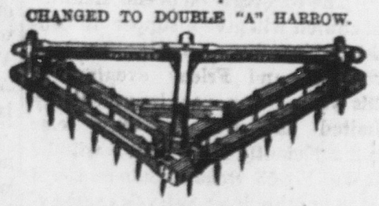
Indispensable for Orchards, as the revolving wheel harrows right up to and all around the trees without barking them.

The Penn Harrow
CHANGED TO SINGLE "A" HARROW.



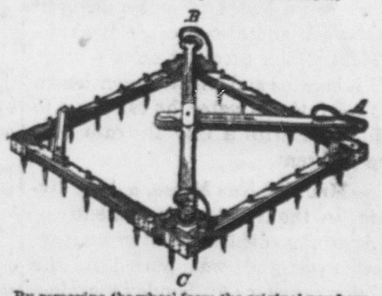
By removing the wing and wheel from the original you have a complete one-horse "A" Harrow.

The Penn Harrow
CHANGED TO DOUBLE "A" HARROW.



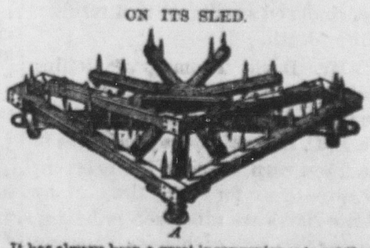
Remove the wheel from the original, reverse the wing, and it makes the most complete Double "A" Harrow in the market.

The Penn Harrow
CHANGED TO A SQUARE HARROW.



By removing the wheel from the original you have a Harrow with three points to hook to. By hooking to B or C you can harrow in a furrow, and harrow the bottom and both sides, or over a ridge and harrow the top and both sides, or you can lift either point and have three points on the ground—something that cannot be done with any other Harrow.

The Penn Harrow
ON ITS SLED.



It has always been a great inconvenience to get the Harrow to and from the field. The Penn Harrow obviates this, as no matter which Harrow you wish to use in the combination, it has its own sled to haul it on.

The Penn Harrow

Is made of the best white oak, with steel teeth, well painted, in every way first-class. Formerly a harrow was the most unhandy implement on the farm; with our improvement it is the most convenient, will do double the work of any other harrow and save the farmer half his labor, and is warranted to do all we represent or money refunded. ORDER AT ONCE AND BE CONVINCED.

Price of the light draft Combination Penn Harrow, $30. Send for a Catalogue and see what farmers say.

AGENTS WANTED IN EVERY COUNTY.

PENN HARROW MANUFACTURING CO.
CAMDEN, N. J.

14-30-3m

READ, MARK and LEARN!

That a fine enclosed Picnic Ground, with every convenience, Swings, Croquet Ground, Quoits, Paraloin, and a fine Spring of pure water, with plenty of shade, for Societies, Clubs, Lodges, and all respectable Parties. MUSIC and LUNCHES gotten up at moderate rates. Carriages and Tickets for the Caves.

Address for terms,

GEO. B. NASH,
SPRING MILLS HOUSE,
14 27 3m Spring Mills.

Bellefonte Republican.

EDWARD T. TUTEN, - - Editor.

Terms, $2.00 per annum in Advance

Local Department.

—Tying her bonnet under her chin,
She tied her raven ringlets in.
But not alone in the silken snare,
Did she catch her lovely floating hair,
For tying her bonnet under her chin,
She tied a young man's heart within.
NORA PERRY.

And many a time that little chin
He's heard from since, you bet and win!
And bonnets she's had for her raven hair,
And many a time he's been called a bear;
And now she is throwing her ringlets back,
And says she shall have a sealskin sacque!
Louisville Courier-Journal.

—A pleasant party was given Friday evening at the residence of Mr. Robert Valentine.

—Those who are fond of chicken and waffles should save fifty cents for the supper on Thursday evening.

—One of Valentines' ore wagons came in contact with a telephone pole on Thursday, demolishing the pole and temporarily interrupting communication.

—Extensive arrangements are being made in Williamsport to entertain delegates to the Y. M. C. A. State convention, which assembles in that city on the 28th of September.

—Lawrence Cooney, Jr., was the successful candidate for the first prize in Stephenson's School of Penmanship, he having made greater progress than any other member of the class.

—Oh, those toothsome chickens and waffles at the supper to be given by the ladies of the Reformed church! We wish that Thursday was here. The very thought of them makes us so hungry we can hardly wait.

—A little daughter of Mr. George Saeger, of Coalville, died on Sunday of diphtheria, and was buried on Monday. We have not learned the little girl's name, but are informed that she was between three and four years of age.

—Three men who were confined in the lock-up Friday night broke out sometime during the early hours of this morning. They were aided in their escape by persons outside. The lock-up is an entirely unfit place to confine prisoners as experience has demonstrated.

—The congregation of the Reformed church will give a supper to consist of chickens, waffles, etc., on Thursday and Friday evenings of this week. Our space is exceedingly limited and we can only refer to it sufficiently to say that it will be held at No. 53 Bush Arcade and will be one of the finest festivals ever given in Bellefonte.

—The single boat belonging to the Bellefonte Boat Club is intended only for gentlemen, and ladies should not be permitted to use it. We say this because we heard of ladies using it last week and also because of an accident which occurred on the dam. If it careens and allows a gentleman to fall into the water he can swim to shore, but with a lady the case may be different.

—Mrs. Nicholas Meese, a lady living in the vicinity of Valentines' Ironworks, died the latter part of last week and was buried in the Union cemetery on Sunday morning. She was 65 years of age. She was a widow, her husband having died just nine weeks ago. It is said that Mrs. Meese visited one of the bush meetings held recently and caught cold while sitting on the ground, which superinduced an illness that resulted in her death.

—Mr. David Thomas, of Boiling Spring, Spring township, who is a tenant on the farm of our townsman, Mr. E. C. Humes, has several acres of the finest corn which it has been our pleasure to see for a long time. Many of the stalks are nine feet in height, bearing two ears each, very long and well-filled. He first planted in May, but most of the first sowing missed. He repeated the process in June with the result described. He is quite expert as a farmer.

—The beautiful characteristics which mark the sunsets in all parts of the world combined to make one of the most beautiful scenes which the mind of man can imagine as the King of Day receded below the western horizon Sunday evening. The copious rains of the past few days had clothed the hills, uplands and meadows with garments of darkest green, through which silvery streams whose pearly depths were clear as crystal threaded their devious ways. From the tops of the wooded hills it seemed as if one could step into heaven. In the south was the hazy sensuousness of the Italian sky, brought into bolder relief by clouds which varied in shade from a golden hue to the deepest crimson.

The Printers' Picnic.

The annual gathering of the printers connected with the Juniata Valley Printers' Association was held in this place on Friday, and was the occasion of much pleasure to all who attended. Nine cars filled with people arrrived at about 10.30 o'clock, and were met at the depot by the firemen with the Pleasant Gap band, the visitors being accompanied by the McVeytown Cornet Band. They marched at once to the Court House, where the gathering was called to order and Senator Alexander welcomed them in a very pleasant speech. Mr. Swartz, of the Altoona Tribune, responded in an equally agreeable style and ex-Governor A. G. Curtin, who was present, occupied about ten minutes in remarks of a humorous nature.

During the afternoon two balls were in progress—one in the ball room of the Bush House and one in Bush's Hall in the Arcade building, at both of which the dancing floor was filled all the time. The Logan Hose Company gave a dinner and supper in their hose house, both of which were well patronized. About three hundred persons called at ex-Governor Curtin's mansion during the day, inspecting his elegant full-length portrait of the Czar of Russia and shaking hands with the distinguished occupants of the mansion, who received them all with his usual cordiality.

An incident occurred which shows the interest our citizens took in the gathering, but which resulted rather unfortunately for the citizens in question. Messrs. Adolph Loeb, Lawrence Brown and John Kurtz took the 10 a. m. train for Milesburg, with the intention of meeting the visitors at that place, extending to them the freedom of the borough and returning with them on the special train. But the special train started for Bellefonte before these gentlemen reached it and they were compelled to forego their act of beautiful hospitality and walk all the way back to town sadder and wiser men. If our readers see fit to speak to the gentlemen on the subject just ask them how they like the parlor car line from Milesburg to Bellefonte.

A game of base ball played on the fair grounds during the afternoon between the Altoona and Huntingdon clubs resulted in favor of the former by a score of 34 to 6.

No business meeting was held on Friday and no officers elected for the ensuing year. It is thought that this will be the last picnic of the Juniata Valley Printers' Association, as the Association will probably be reorganized on a new basis.

Considering the number of people accompanying the excursion, they were unusually orderly and well behaved. Some of the ladies were very pretty, although we heard one gentleman remark that none of them were any better looking than the fair compositors of Bellefonte.

Following is Mr. Alexander's speech:

Editors, Compositors, Pressmen and Devils, of the Juniata Valley Printers' Association:

In behalf of the Civil Authorities and the good people of the town, I greet you and bid you welcome. The craft you represent is a noble one, and we feel honored by your presence.

The newspaper is the great educator of the people, and the freedom of the press the strongest bulwark of the Republic.

Our school system, perfect and admirable as it is, but teaches our boys and girls the rudiments of language and of science; while the printer's art, through the medium of the monthly, the weekly and the daily press, acquaints all people, young and old, with the progress of Science; perfects the use of language as the means of conveying thought, and records the movements of the ever busy mind. Rapid as is the revolution of the planetary world, yet more rapid is the thought of man, and while he resides upon the world's surface, as a mere speck, in its wild whirl through boundless space, he not only masters the science of its movement, unearths its hidden treasures and masters the elements which control its existence, but has time to think of other worlds beside and calculate their magnitude and distance. Before the printer's art was known, each man had to ferret out Nature's secrets for himself; and while no doubt there were men of brilliant thought, the progress of Civilization and Science was slow. There were no means of the conveyance of thought, from mind to mind, such as is now afforded by the printer's art. Thought now feeds upon thought, and collective thought is the motive power that moves the human world. The printer's art, with the rapidity almost of the electric wire, conveys thought from mind to mind. The thought of a single mind may not of itself master Natures secrets, but thought added to thought unveils Nature's mysteries, and by this means all of the human family are enlightened. From small beginings great results are accomplished. Without the aid of the printer's art, the progress of Civilization and of Science would be slow, indeed. You, to whom it is my pleasure to speak to-day, are engaged in a great work, and grave responsibilities rest upon you. Be truthful. Always state the truth, as you understand it, and NEVER tell a lie! A majority of your patrons believe what you say. Their politics, always—their religion, sometimes, are the politics and the religion of the editor. God help them, when they come to render an account, if they have moulded their conduct after the example of some of your craft.

Be careful, therefore, what you say through your paper. The ministers of the gospel, through the medium of their several creeds and churches, mould the religious sentiment of the people. You mould their politics. You can build up or tear down the State. It has been said that the "pen is mightier than the sword." Your craft wields this Scepter. Let it always be upon the side of truth. Wield it, with avenging power, against the spoilsman in official station. Cut from the body politic the cancerous growth of official corruption and drive into exile the thieves who thrive and fatten as leeches upon the peoples treasury. No matter to which political party they belong. If they belong to your own, strike with double force, and, by united action, you will succeed in driving from official station everything that is impure. There should be no such thing as a political organ permitted to exist. They are but the apologists of political corruption. An independent press is the conservator and guardian of the liberties of a free people.

Your craft is a noble one. The men and women who compose it are generally worthy of esteem, and in the name of the corporation I bid you welcome and extend to you the freedom of the city.

Last Week in Court.

MONDAY, AUGUST 28.

August term of court convened at 10 o'clock a. m. yesterday, with Judge Orvis presiding. Quite a number of motions were made and petitions presented, when court adjourned to meet at 2 p. m.

Afternoon session, Judge Orvis presiding; also Associates Larimer and Runkle on the bench. List of Grand Jurors called, over twenty out of the twenty-four who were summoned being present. Grand Jury sworn with H. L. Barnhart, of Boggs township, as foreman. The list of constables was called over, when the constables of their respective townships came forward and made their quarterly return, the constables of Snow Shoe, Burnside and Curtin townships not answering.

The list of Travers Jurors was called over. Out of the 48 summoned six were absent and four were excused by the Court.

Proclamation was then made that D. C. Keller, Treasurer of Centre county, was about to offer deeds for the sales of unseated lands last June, for acknowledgement.

The first of the civil causes for trial this term was called over and all of the causes continued or supplied, except the case of Evan Thomas against Jonathan Kreamer, of College township.

In the Quarter Sessions the following cases were returned by the Grand Jury, when court adjourned yesterday evening: Violation of liquor law—true bill. Defendant pleads guilty. Sentenced to pay costs of prosecution and two hundred dollars fine.

Same vs. Same, selling liquor on Sunday—true bill. Defendant pled guilty. Sentence suspended, and will not be imposed if defendant does not violate the law in the future.

Same vs. William Wike, selling liquor without license—true bill. Defendant not in court.

Same vs. Theodore Cowher, fornication and bastardy; true bill. Jury sworn. After hearing testimony of prosecutrix defendant withdrew plea of not guilty and pled guilty. Sentence of the court was to pay fine of $5, costs of prosecution and thirty dollars to Anna Daughenbaugh for expenses. District Attorney Heinle asked the Court to impose a heavy sentence as he believed this to be an honest case, and that he was going to teach these fellows a lesson.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 29.

In the case of Commonwealth vs. John Bathurst, assault and battery, nolle prosequi entered upon payment of costs.

Commonwealth vs. George Spicer, cruelty to animals. Verdict not guilty; George Spicer to pay one-half the costs and prosecutor Henry Reese to pay the other half.

Commonwealth vs. O. Reed and Sylvester Reed, assault and battery. Bill ignored and prosecutrix, Rachel Walker, to pay the costs.

Same vs. Wesley Jones, fornication and bastardy. Defendant pleads guilty and usual sentence in such cases imposed.

Same vs. J. H. Frank and B. F. Frankenberger, nuisance. True Bill.

Same vs. William Tipton, assault and battery. True bill.

Same vs. Christ Ault and Ed. Hamilton, cruelty to animals. True bill.

Same vs. Thompson Reese, cruelty to animals and malicious mischief. True bill.

Civil case of Evan Thomas vs. Jonathan Kreamer, of College township, is now being tried and will consume a large part of the day.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30.

In the case of Evan Thomas vs. Jonathan Kramer, of College township, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff assessing damages at twenty-three dollars.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. John Tipton was then taken up and tried. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and defendant to pay one-half the costs and the prosecutor, William Bennett, the other half.

In the case of Commonwealth against Lemuel Daugherty, fornication and bastardy, true bill. Defendant pleaded guilty and usual sentence imposed.

Commonwealth vs. Jennie Beaner. Bill ignored and prosecutor, Isaac Thomas, to pay the costs.

The cases of Commonwealth vs. Christ. Ault, et al., for cruelty to animals, and Commonwealth vs. Daniel Butler et al., continued.

The Grand Jury having finished their business, were discharged, with the thanks of the court, at about 4 p. m. The following is their report:

We, the Grand Jury, have examined the public buildings and found the roof of the jail and court house in a bad condition.

H. L. BARNHART, Foreman.

The court directed the report to be filed and a copy furnished to the county commissioners.

THURSDAY AND FRIDAY.

In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Thompson Reese for killing a dog, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and prosecutor Michael Wertz to pay the costs.

In the Surety of the Peace case between the same parties, Thompson Reese was sentenced to pay the costs and give security in the sum of $300 to keep the peace toward all good citizens and especially toward Michael Wertz and his family for a period of one year.

A jury was impanneled in the case of the Commonwealth vs. J. H. Frank and B. F. Frankenbarger, supervisors of Penn township, for not repairing a road leading from Zerby's sawmill to Armor's mill, the trial of which took up the greater part of the day, as there were a great many witnesses on both sides. The other jurors were all discharged. After court met Friday morning the case was settled. Proclamation was made that the Sheriff was about to offer deeds for acknowledgment, when the following deeds were duly acknowledged in open court, viz:

T. J. Dunkle, Sheriff,	to	J. C. Butler,
" "	"	to J. M. Keichline,
" "	"	to J. H. Breon,
" "	"	to W. L. Nesbit,
" "	"	to J. A. Beaver, trus

The Pleasures of Camp Life.

The following letter is from one of a large party of ladies and gentlemen who recently enjoyed the pleasures of camp life at a certain romantic spot. Nearly all the members of the party were residents of this county. They thus describe the place and its attractions:

HOTEL DE BEST, HAINESFORD ABBEY, PA., Aug. 28, 1882.

This place is situated two miles below Karthaus on the West Branch of the Susquehanna, being a very beautiful and much frequented resort for fishing parties. It was visited a few days since by a jolly party of ladies and gentlemen from different parts of the State, though largely made up of those from Centre county. They arrived here about 11 a. m. Thursday August 24, with boats, hammocks and a bountiful supply of provisions. The hotel is built in a most romantic and picturesque spot. To the right is the mountain known to the fishing parties who frequent the camp as "The Pinnacle." On the left are grand old rocks. In front is the lovely Susquehanna, on which we launched our boats and enjoyed rowing and fishing. Occasionally the boats anchored of their own accord on rocks or some shallow place. It was then a funny sight to see the boys jump into the water and tow the boat and ladies to deeper water. The biggest fish story was that of H. S. and J. K. McF., but we shall not repeat it. Mr. T. A. B. was the cause of much merriment, owing to the fact that while he tried to dry his fishing shoes his attention was more engrossed by the cook, and the shoes burned, nothing being left but the heel.

We were visited by many friends. Everybody was full of life and equal to any emergency. When evening came we spread robes and blankets around the camp fire and then rested from our work, relating the experiences of the day and making the woods ring with song and laughter. During the day the young men and ladies would start off with all their fishing tackle. It was a rare thing for them to come home empty-handed. The bass caught were large and delicious. GYPSY.

—We anticipated that the new Democratic daily—The Times—which made its first appearance in Altoona on Tuesday would be a bright and able sheet, for none other would be sufficiently bold to contest the same field already so well occupied by the excellent Altoona Tribune. We are not disappointed in our expectations. Editorially and typographically it is a model newspaper. If Altoona can afford sufficient support to make two enterprising daily papers a success each will live and flourish. If Altoona cannot afford that support the latter will survive, and the fledgeling will die the death that knows no waking—a mighty genius whose mission is already fulfilled.

—The Altoona Tribune was not issued last Saturday, because all the printers were in Bellefonte on Friday.

Personal Pencilings.

Mrs. E. A. Rosenbluth, of Lock Haven, is at Snow Shoe.

Mr. William Webb, of Beaver Mills, was in town on Wednesday.

Miss Jennie Orvis returned home on Tuesday after a long absence.

Michael Dolan, Centre county's detective, was in Lock Haven on Tuesday.

Mr. S. Goldsmith, the senior partner of the Bee Hive, is at Asbury Park.

Miss Belle Hannom, of Concordville, is visiting Mrs. Harry Hicks, of Linn street.

Miss Lizzie Swartz returned on Thursday evening after an enjoyable visit among friends at a distance.

Miss Rachel Humes, who has been spending some time at Houtzville, returned last week, being accompanied by Miss Mary Ann McGill.

The Misses Linn returned to-day from Bellefonte, where they have been spending a month with their father.—Williamsport Sun and Banner of Tuesday.

Mr. John Hastings, of Ohio, is visiting his cousin, Col. D. H. Hastings, on Linn street. Mrs. Saltsman, a sister of the Colonel's, is also visiting at the same place.

Mr. Tressler, of Somerset county, passed through town on Tuesday of last week on his way to the State College. He is one of the best students attending that institution.

Miss Mayes, of Emporium, is visiting Miss Lizzie Morrison, of this place. She has frequently visited here before and her presence always gives pleasure to her many friends.

Miss Shallenberger, who has been enlivening the home of Editor P. G. Meek with her presence during the past week, departed to her home in Allegheny City on Saturday.

Miss Marion Milliken is again safe in Bellefonte after a brief European trip. We are pleased to know that her journey over the ocean wave was accomplished without accident.

Mr. Frank Hamm left here Friday morning for his home in New Bethlehem where he expects to engage in the mercantile business. Mr. Hamm is an agreeable young man, and his many friends will regret his departure.

Mr. J. C. Goheen was a caller at this office last week. His business in town was to serve as a grand juror at the present session of court and he considers it a pleasant duty. He is a first class merchant and an exceedingly pleasant gentleman.

Mrs. John B. Linn is entertaining a distinguished guest in the person of Mrs. Halderman, of Harrisburg, who is visiting her, accompanied by her three children. Mrs. H. is a daughter of ex-Senator Simon Cameron and a sister of the present Senator, J. Donald Cameron.

Miss Kate Curtin, daughter of ex-Governor A. G. Curtin, is entertaining four lady guests. Misses Mary and Louise Sargent and Miss Cox, of Harrisburg, arrived on Monday, and Miss Almy, daughter of Admiral Almy, of Washington, arrived on Tuesday. The Governor's residence bids fair to be an attractive place during the remainder of the warm season.

Prof. A. D. Lane, the accomplished basso, made good use of his vocal powers on Sunday. In the morning he aided the Episcopal church choir and in the afternoon he visited the Presbyterian and M. E. Sabbath schools and the Y. M. C. A. rooms, at each place mingling the deep tones of his voice with those of other singers with very melodious effect. We believe the M. E. church was favored with his presence in the evening as we saw him wending his way toward that edifice, guided by one of the M. E. "brethren." We understand it is his intention to organize a class in vocal music, which will terminate with a grand cantato or sacred opera, a plan that has been carried out with excellent effect in the large cities and will be new and novel in Bellefonte.

—Mr. D'Almaine, the crayon artist, has presented the Y. M. C. A. with an excellent portrait of Gen. James A. Beaver, its first President. This is the second gift of the kind for which the Association is indebted to the generous artist, his first being a crayon portrait of D. S. Keller, Esq., the present incumbent of that office. The official presentation of General Beaver's portrait was made at a meeting of the Board of Directors Friday night. It is exceedingly life-like and natural.

—The fifty-second anniversary of the Centre Baptist Association was held on Wednesday in the Bald Eagle Baptist church at Martha. It was largely attended and proved to be a pleasant gathering. Hollidaysburg was fixed on as the place of next meeting.

The Centre County Sunday School Convention.

About everything pertaining to the thirteenth anniversary of The Centre County Sunday School Convention, recently held at Centre Hill, was promptly attended to except an official report of its proceedings.

The briefest possible summary is herewith submitted.

The large audience room of the church was well filled throughout the Convention. The presence and good words spoken by prominent pastors deserve special mention as well as the ready participation of other delegates.

The spirit of Christian love always manifest was perfectly in keeping with the objects of the Association,

During the noon recess the large assemblage of old and young greatly enjoyed their basket lunch. It should be mentioned that the scripture memory exercises recited at the scholars' hour formed one of the most profitable and pleasing features of the Convention. Rev. Robert Hamill, D. D., Prof. D. M. Wolf and Rev. R. Critenden were appointed delegates to the State Sunday School Convention to be held at Easton in October.

The following are the officers elected for the ensuing year:

Rev. S. E. Furst, President; Sylvester D. Ray, Secretary; Charles F. Cook, Treasurer.

Executive Committee—Revs. R. Critenden, John Hewitt, W. E. Fischer, J Zeigler and Morris. Messrs. J. W. Gephart, D. S. Keller, F. P. Green and H. L. Harvey.

The oldest acting superintendent in the county, Peter Wilson, Esq., of Spring Mills, invited the Association to hold its next annual meeting at that place.

—Mr. Ross Smith, a young man about 17 years of age, was drowned while bathing near New Millport, Clearfield county, on Friday last. He with another young man of about his age had been picking berries. They came to McNeal's run and went into the water below a dam that had been built for floating logs. The stream is small, but the shute had caused a hole to be washed about 12 feet deep. Young Smith could not swim and was probably deceived as to the depth of the water.

—Quite an extensive fire occurred at Milesburg on Tuesday evening, the 29th ult., about ten o'clock, the large soap factory near the depot at that place being burned to the ground. Mr. George Reeser was the owner. The loss was quite heavy, and the property was insured for $1,800, with J. A. Rankin & Son, of this place. It is thought to be the work of incendiary.

—The Blair county Democrats met in convention last week and nominated the following ticket: Congress A. V. Dively; Assembly, A. Lingenfelter and A. Ake; Associate Judge, William McGarvey; Prothonotary, James P. Stewart; Sheriff, Mercer Gray; Director of the Poor, W. D. McDowell; Jury Commissioner, Jos. Maize.

—September, the first autumn month, is here.

MARRIED.

SMITH—MYERS.—At Snow Shoe, Pa., Aug. 31, 1882, by the Rev. W. O. Wright, Mr. William J. Smith, of England, and Miss Julia L. Myers, of Hublersburg, Pa.

SHIRK—FAIR.—August 30, 1882, by W. S. Williams, J. P., Mr. James Shirk to Miss Lizzie Fair, both of Huston township.

DIED.

SWYERS.—On Sunday, August 27, in Howard borough, of heart disease, Joseph Swyers, aged 75 years, 4 months and 17 days.

Deceased was a consistent member of the M. E. church and in all respects an upright honest man. He became ill about 8 o'clock on Saturday evening and died about 6 o'clock the following morning. Requiescat in pace.

MURPHY.—At Pine Grove Mills, August 6th, 1882, Fannie S. Murphy, aged 25 years, 10 months and 14 days.

This young lady was a member of the M. E church. She died the death of the righteous.

M.

The Markets.

BELLEFONTE, September 5, 1882.

Wheat—No. 1, per bushel	$1 00
Wheat—No. 2,	90
Wheat—No. 3,	80
Rye per bushel	80
Corn, cob	90
Corn, shelled, old	90
Oats	45
Cloverseed	5 50@6 00
Flour, old wheat, retail, per barrel	7 00
Flour, old wheat, wholesale	5 75

HAY AND STRAW.

Hay, choice timothy, per ton	$10 00
Hay, mixed, per ton	6 00
Long rye straw, bundled, per ton	10 00
Short straw per ton	6 00@8 00

PLASTER.

Cayuga, ground, per ton	$ 7 00
Nova Scotia ground, per ton	9 00

Provision Market.

Corrected daily by Valentines & Co.

Apples, dried, per pound	6
Cherries, dried, per pound, seeded	25
Beans per quart	10
Fresh butter per pound	25
Chickens per piece	20
Cheese per pound	15
Country hams per pound	16
Hams, sugar cured	18
Country Bacon	15
Lard per pound	15
Eggs per doz	20
Potatoes per bushel, new	75
Dried beef	22
Wilson's pressed beef per pound	20
Canned tomatoes per can	15
Lemons per doz	40
Dried sweet corn per pound	15